Witness Reveals Terrorist Plot To Slay Mayor

TWO STATES REPRESENTED AT CAMPORAL

HOODED BAND LINKED WITH NEW DEATHS

Find Head of Black Legion Victim Hidden in Gully; Death Plot Bared

DETROIT, June 6.—(UP)—A confession by a Black Legion night rider that the hooded order attempted to murder the mayor of suburban Ecorse with dynamite turned the investigation of its crimes toward almost forgotten but suddenly significant bombings today.

At the same time discovery of a man's head in a gully at Cleveland, coupled with a mysterious tip to Cleveland police, indicated that two unsolved murders might be traced to legion executioners.

Aides to Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea, of Wayne county (Detroit) said Frey Guiley, one of eight men accused of flogging Robert Penlon, steel worker, revealed the plot against Mayor William Volaine of Ecorse.

Religious Grudge
The legion's only grudge against Volaine, Guiley said, was that he was a Roman Catholic.
Volaine's home was dynamited several weeks ago.
"He was supposed to be killed," Guiley told prosecutors. "We wanted to elect another man in his place."
The Cleveland killings in which Michigan authorities expressed great interest, as substantiating their belief that the Black Legion planned a campaign of terrorism on a national scale, occurred last fall. The headless bodies of two men were found by a roadside. They were unidentified and the slayings were mysteries without a clue until a man telephoned Cleveland headquarters last week.

Search Reveals Head
A new search where the bodies were found, uncovered the head last night. It was wrapped in a pair of dark trousers.
Officials of the state and several counties rounded up dozens of witnesses today for a general resumption of grand jury inquiry into the legion's activities Monday.
Reports persisted that McCrea and Judge James E. Chenot, sitting as a one-man jury, were continuing an investigation of rumors the legion plotted in 1934 to murder the Rev. Charles Coughlin, radio priest. A suspicion was held that a fire in Coughlin's church, the Shrine of the Little Flower, was incendiary.

State PWA Awards Highway Contracts

SACRAMENTO, June 6.—(UP)—Work on eight highway projects today was expected to start at once following the award of contracts by the state department of public works.
The two major projects on the list are located in Los Angeles county. One calls for construction of a bridge across Rio Hondo river, two miles west of El Monte, and was awarded to Oscar Berg, Los Angeles, for $117,876. The other provides for an undergrade crossing under the tracks of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad at Rivera. The contract was awarded to J. E. Raddock, Ltd., Pasadena, for $98,671.

CHARGE BLACK LEGION--ARMY LINK; URGE QUIZ

Charging that members of the Michigan national guard and U. S. army reserve were officers in the Black Legion, and that the legion planned an armed uprising were made by Representative Samuel Dickstein (Dem., N. Y.), shown above with Michigan congressmen who joined him in urging a probe into the night riders' activities. Supporting the proposed $100,000 congressional investigation are, left to right, Louis C. Rabaut (Dem., Mich.), George G. Sadouski (Dem., Mich.), Representative Dickstein, and John Lesinski (Dem., Mich.).

SCHOOL BOARD CHANGES MADE IN ELECTIONS

CHANGES in administration in various school districts of Orange county were effected by the voters at yesterday's elections in 42 elementary and nine high school districts of the county.

In some cases new trustees were elected to fill vacancies caused by retirement of incumbents, but in three and possibly four districts, incumbents were defeated for reelection. Orange, Silverado and Huntington Beach elementary districts saw such upsets, and the result of the Newport Beach election remains in doubt through a curious quirk of voting.

In that district, the incumbent, Charles Wray, who had no opponent on the ballot, received 95 votes. However there were 75 votes for E. I. Moore and 41 votes for Edward I. Moore, supposedly the same person.
If the two Moores are held to be legally the same person, such person has a total of 116 votes and has been elected to the post. The matter has been referred to Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner, legal adviser for school districts, for an opinion, which Turner is now preparing.

Chief of Police Sues City For $600 Back Pay

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 6.—(UP)—Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford today sued the city of Phoenix for $600 salary he alleged was due him under his contract as police chief.

Glassford, police chief in Washington, D. C., during the bonus riots several years ago, contended the city broke the agreement whereby he became head of the force for 90 days at $400 a month. He took office May 1 and was removed May 1 when a new administration obtained control of the city government. He alleged he still was "ready and willing" to fulfill his part of the contract.

Glassford was made chief of police in an attempt by the then city administration to reorganize the department.

BULLETIN
SACRAMENTO, June 6.—(UP)—Formal charges against Elwood Squires, assistant secretary of the state board of equalization, charging him with a long series of "improper acts" in connection with liquor administration, were filed today with the state personnel board by Assemblyman Leon M. Donihue.

More than 100 witnesses, including Elwood Squires, assistant secretary of the State Board of Equalization, will be subpoenaed to appear at a special meeting in Los Angeles next Friday at which the assembly audit committee will consider charges of corruption in liquor control enforcement, Assemblyman Leon M. Donihue announced today.

Donihue, chairman of the audit committee, also announced he had evidence of bribery in Southern California before which the $500 Alameda county bribe that precipitated the investigation would "pale into insignificance."

RIOTERS SMASH PRESSES, BURN ENTIRE EDITION

PARIS, June 6.—(UP)—The strike of 1,000,000 French workers broke out in violence today, with rioting in Paris streets and mobs smashing newspaper presses.

Rioters suddenly converged on the buildings of the afternoon papers L'Intransigeant and the Paris Soir and attacked bicycle carriers as they emerged. The rioters burned the papers in a huge bonfire in the street.

A mob then broke into the Paris Soir building as an edition was about to go to press. The rioters destroyed forms, smashed the type, and wrecked the composing rooms.

The rioting followed shortly after Premier Leon Blum announced in the chamber of deputies the new left-wing government's "new deal" program for French labor, which would put into effect labor and social security reforms, institute new taxes shifting the tax burden to alter France's fiscal and banking policies.

WAGNER LABOR ACT UPHELD BY COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—(UP)—California labor leaders today acclaimed as a victory for the Wagner Labor Act a decision by Federal District Judge Harold Louderback here yesterday denying a petition by the Moore Drydock company, Oakland, for a temporary injunction against the National Labor Relations board.

The petition, challenging constitutionality of the Wagner Act, sought to enjoin local officers of the board from "meddling" between the company and its employees, and to restrain holding of an election requested by the Marine and Shipbuilders Workers of America.

PLAN LONDON STAMPEDE AT SECRET GOP PARLEY

CLEVELAND, June 6.—(UP)—Secret conferences between eastern old guard leaders and representatives of Gov. Alf M. Landon pointed almost indisputably today to a stampede to the Kansas and his nomination for the presidency in an early ballot at next week's Republican National convention.

Will Fire Entire Hillside As Surprise Feature of Regional Program

By KENNETH ADAMS
MORE THAN 2000 Boy Scouts from California and Arizona who arrived at Camp Irvine today for the regional Camporal will be given a spectacular surprise tonight when an entire hillside is fired as part of the Camporal program.

Scout Executive Harrison E. White of the Orange County Council, who is acting as host to the Scout troops, said today that setting fire to the hillside is part of the comprehensive program planned during the big two-day camping event.

The Scouts will not know that the fire was set purposely, but will think it an accident caused by careless Scouts in building camp fires. The fire alarm signal will be given from Santiago Peak, and all fire-fighting equipment for forestry work will be rushed to the park.

Harvey French, Cleveland National Forest ranger, and Joe Scherman, state ranger, will cooperate in the program, designed to teach the Scouts the dangers of fire and how to extinguish forest fires.

BANK FORECLOSES SCHECHTER'S HOME

NEW YORK, June 6.—(UP)—Aaron Schechter, one of the brothers responsible for invalidation of NRA by the supreme court, admitted today that a savings bank has foreclosed his home.

Since the NRA decision in May, 1935, the Schechter brothers have had a continuous run of hard luck, Aaron said. From now on he will have to pay $30 a month rent to live in the house he owned for many years.

Aaron was treasurer of the chicken company that challenged NRA in the famous "sick chicken" case. Although wealthy anti-new dealers flocked to the brothers' aid then there have been no offers of help recently.

PLAN LONDON STAMPEDE AT SECRET MEET

2. Provision for state compact to obtain uniform laws regulating labor and business.

3. Return of relief administration to state or local authorities which would be aided by federal contributions.

4. Social security program to be administered by the states.

5. Acceptance of the reciprocal tariff principle but minus "most favored nation" clauses, which make all concessions available to other trade agreements; all agreements to be subject to Senate approval.

Farm Relief Plan

6. A farm relief program abandoning compulsory crop control but embracing: (a) A crop surplus subsidy; (b) soil conservation; (c) federal purchase and retirement or economic utilization of sub-marginal land.

As these developments were spread before arriving delegates, the stop-London battlers entered a week-end period in which they must clip the Kansas on the chin or toss in the towel. Senator William E. Borah will arrive tomorrow and may inspire the anti-London crusade.

Meantime the Republican high command apparently had decided to bury former President Hoover's speech under the party platform. Tentative plans were understood to call for submission of the platform to the national convention Wednesday after Mr. Hoover's address. The platform would relegate the former president's remarks to a secondary news position.

DAIRYMEN'S UNION PARLEY IN FRESNO

FRESNO, Cal., June 6.—(UP)—

The board of directors of the Western Dairymen's union meets here today in an effort to reach a decision in whether to carry the organization's legal battle against county bovine tuberculosis laws to higher courts.

Three hundred representatives of the union, meeting here yesterday, failed to come to a definite conclusion after hearing from Thomas Lopez, their attorney, an outline of legal procedure which will be necessary if the case is carried to the circuit court of appeals or the U. S. supreme court.

Earlier this week, Judge Albert Lee Stephens of Los Angeles denied the dairymen an injunction to restrain federal inspectors from testing cows under the county ordinances.

J. C. PENNEY TOWNSENDITES TO ENLARGE OPEN TWO DAY STORE HERE MASS MEETING

Reedley, before coming to Santa Ana.

The enlarged Santa Ana store will be another step forward in the successful career of the J. C. Penney company, founded 24 years ago by J. C. Penney in the small mining town of Kemmerer, Wyoming, and since grown to be one of the outstanding examples of modern merchandising technique. Mr. Penney opened the original store with $500 in capital and a definite policy of square dealing, he pointed out recently in reminiscing of the old days. The capital investment of the company now runs into big figures but the policy of the little dry goods store in Kemmerer, still remains the policy of the 1483 Penney stores in operation today.

"Mr. Penney and Earl C. Sams, his successor as active head of the Penney company, have proved that it is good business to give people as much quality, service and satisfaction for them as possible," the local manager said. "The Penney company sells only for cash because in that way, goods can be sold more cheaply. The company's other four major points in conducting of the business permit the stocking of dependable, serviceable merchandise; only demand the selling at the lowest prices possible; require the avoidance of all extravagance in store-keeping, and require fair dealing with both customers and co-workers."

Manager Controls Store

"When the Penney company first began to branch out, Mr. Penney developed the famous system which has earned for him the title of the man with a thousand partners," Manager Jones continued. "Full merchandise control of each store is vested in the hands of the local manager who is in a position to study the demands of the people of his community and who can effect great savings for them by buying in the most economical way through one central buying office. From the beginning, these managers have been active partners in the business, sharing the profits. This system is proved successful by the rapid growth of the company to its present available position, with 1483 stores linking coast to coast and border to border in a great merchandising chain. Along with the increasing number of stores has come increasing volume of business in the individual stores and the local store has been no exception."

ADMIRAL BYRD PLEDGES LIFE FOR CRUSADE SERVICES FOR GRADUATES ON SUNDAY NIGHT

brought about the crystallization of plans which had for long been in my mind," he said. "Much of the time during the dark months and sleepless hours when I lay on the edge of life I could not read, so that thought was my only companion. I recorded some of those thoughts in my diary and I am going to read you a page from it."

The excerpt explained how clearly, in the white vastness and silence of Antarctica, it became plain that "the great folly of all follies is the amazing attitude of civilized nations toward each other."

It commented that even aviation, the invention that made Byrd's explorations possible, "is one of the main causes of the present universal nightmare."

"Fear, antagonism and reprisals seem to be the rule among nations which, in their conduct toward each other, are, I believe, 20,000 years behind the individual civilized citizen in his conduct toward his neighbor," Byrd had written. And then added:

"I feel this so keenly that if I survive this ordeal I shall devote what is left of my life largely to trying to help further the friendship of my country with other nations of the world."

As Byrd laid down his diary he said:

"And now, in conclusion, I propose to carry out the promise I made to myself during the long night. I shall set aside two years of my life some time later on to further explorations but, as soon as I get some months of greatly needed rest, I shall start my work for international amity, although I realize my part will be an extremely humble one and I know also that I am only one of hundreds of millions who are equally as concerned as I am with this great problem."

CITY MAY SUE TO RECOVER SALARIES

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—(UP)—

Belief that the city of San Francisco may sue to recover salaries paid to officers who may be convicted as a result of the current police graft investigation was expressed today by City Attorney John J. O'Toole.

O'Toole also believes the city can stop pension payments and set aside retirement benefits to such officers.

O'Toole said he based his opinion on the retirement provisions of the city charter which provide for pension payments in cases of "faithful and lawful service" to the city.

"It is my opinion," O'Toole said, "that the city may, in the future, collect all salaries paid to police officers who may later be convicted of graft, because such salaries, in the event of such conviction, would have been paid to the convicted officers under false pretenses."

MAN SUFFERS BURNS FROM GARAGE FIRE

A fire at the Studebaker headquarters, Second and Sycamore streets, at 7:30 o'clock last night, resulted in little or no damage to property but caused painful face burns to Henry Bulley, night mechanic.

The floor had just been cleaned with gasoline, according to reports given Fire Marshal Elmer Gates, and then watered down, when a short circuit at a switch socket in the repair pit. The short set the gasoline fumes off in an explosion and Bulley was burned. The fire department responded to the call.

Two Thefts Being Investigated By Sheriff's Staff

Pettty thefts reported to the sheriff's office were being investigated today. A man and woman, said be "racketeering" in the sale of cheaply-made linoleum, and who appeared at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ellinger, Route 2, Anaheim, Crescent road between Brookhurst and Euclid, recently, according to their complaint, were being sought in connection with a $200 check they cashed in Anaheim.

"The man and woman came to the house and told us they had some best-grade linoleum for sale at half-price," Ellinger declared. "We thought it with the understanding they would take my check direct to their boss at the linoleum headquarters. They cashed the check by using the name Harry Jones and then we found the linoleum was nothing but a cheap grade of paper enameled with paint to make it resemble linoleum."

Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey was conducting the investigation. Frank Vaughn, Darby ranch, Adams street, Costa Mesa, told Deputy Sheriff's Steve Duhart and Harvey Gulick yesterday that thieves stole a $7.50 magnet from his tractor, after removing bolts and cutting wires.

Says Bones Found Belonged to Cow, Not Plesiosaurus

Not the neck of a prehistoric plesiosaurus, but the backbone of a cow, possibly of the gay nineties or thereabouts.

That was the belief of John Wintbourne, archeologist at the Santa Ana Museum, concerning segments of vertebrae unearthed by WPA workers at Irvine park, after he had examined the bones late yesterday.

When the bones were first found it was thought that they might belong to some sea animal or perhaps the plesiosaurus period.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, June 6.—Washington is just recovering from a bad case of Zionshock brought on by that wild man from the West when he over-indulged in a concoction of his own called a "Zipper" . . . I always wondered how a person would act who got caught in one of those things.

He even went so far as to leave a case of empty beer bottles at the White House . . . Quite a change for the President! It's usually the Supreme Court that dumps those cases on his doorstep.

They say that the raving Representative is to be held for observation, and if found insane, may be committed to an institution . . . Very probably, the Capitol.

Of course, Incongruousman Zionshock couldn't have been so crazy when he suspected that Vice President Garner might know where his wife was hiding . . . After all, a vice president should know some good secluded spots, the way they keep themselves hidden for four years at a time.

PETITIONS FOR NEW POLITICAL PARTY STARTED

Petitions were being circulated in Orange county today for establishment of a new political party, called the American party, which is said to have been recently launched in Long Beach and which, its organizers state, will immediately be legally established in every state of the union, for participation in this year's elections.

A. W. Robinette and Howard O. Williams, of Long Beach, the latter a former Orange county resident, were here today with petitions seeking participation of the American party in the primary election August 25.

Townsend Plank That the party will have a Townsend plank in its platform, and, that while it will not be a Townsend party, it will present a platform providing the Townsend, share-the-wealth movement, and Father Coughlin group for a means to achieve their aims politically, was declared by Williams and Robinette in stating the purpose of the new party.

"The American party will provide a means for political action to these educational movements," said Williams. "They have passed through their educational periods, and now they want opportunity to act. This party will give it to them."

The petitions require 24,000 signatures of qualified electors in order to qualify for the August primary ballot, it was stated. Already nearly 16,000 signatures have been procured in Long Beach, origin of the party.

With the party thus legally established in California, it can be registered in every other state in the union without further circulation of petitions, the sponsors said.

WAR GAMES END AS ARMY PLANES MASS

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 6.—(UP)—

The 1936 war games, most closely censored in the history of the United States fleet, came to an end today as warships nosed into harbors at San Diego and San Pedro and sailors swarmed ashore to greet wives and sweethearts they have not seen since April 27.

A tightly massed formation flight of 400 planes over the San Diego area was to mark the only public demonstration of the returning war dogs. The planes were to hop from decks of the aircraft carriers Langley, Saratoga, Ranger and Lexington 15 miles at sea and maneuver in a 200 square mile zone from which commercial ships have been barred.

The aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington will continue on to San Pedro after discharging equipment and personnel at San Diego. The two other carriers remain here.

CHINESE CHALLENGE JAP WAR MACHINE

HONG KONG, June 6.—(UP)—

A southern Chinese army of 200,000 men marched northward today, professing its determination to challenge the formidable Japanese war machine.

Its ill-equipped soldiers were reported at the gates of Hengchow, in Hunan province, 85 miles on their way to their jumping-off or walking-off place at the Hunan-Kwangsi province border.

Their immediate objective was the co-called Wuhan cities, Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, on the Yangtze river 175 miles from Hengchow, and then they had another 600 miles to march to fight Japanese—if the Japanese awaited them in their present zone of influence in the Peking-Tientsin area in the north.

Before matches came into use, borrowing fire was a regular chore, and when neighbors were distant it was necessary to be speedy.

ORANGE COUNTY TWO STATES BUS DRIVERS IN REPRESENTED MEETING HERE AT CAMPORAL

Visitations between councils and exhibitions of handicraft were on the program for this afternoon, following the setting up of camp and inspection tours of this morning.

Following the surprise fire demonstration of tonight, Ranger French is scheduled to give a talk on fire-fighting tomorrow morning.

Surprise services will be held at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, with the Rev. Dr. George A. Warner of the Santa Ana Methodist church scheduled to address the Protestant youths. Catholic youths will be addressed by the Rev. Fr. Timothy Galvin, of the St. Joseph Catholic church.

Tomorrow afternoon will see presentation of Camporal achievement awards to those patrols which have excelled in craftsmanship, appearance, fellowship and general excellence in outdoor activities. The patrols will be judged by Elwood Earley of San Diego, O. A. Alderson of Pomona and Calvin McCray of Santa Barbara.

Early tomorrow afternoon camp will be broken, and the Scouts will disband to leave for their homes after two days of highly instructive and interesting outdoor activity carried on under the spreading branches of the great sycamore trees in Irvine Park.

Suit Filed To Halt Lido Isle Building

The Lodi Isle Community association today filed suit in superior court for an injunction against S. M. Kolmertz and Mrs. Rae Kolmertz, property owners on the isle, to prevent them from proceeding with the remodeling of their home and construction of a fence along their property line.

These activities, the complaint asserts, are in violation of protective restrictions governing property on the island, which requires approval of any building plans by the association.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

There are some hard experiences in life which seem unavoidable and we cannot choose the hour when we must endure them.

A great poet reminds us that religion bestows power to face the inevitable. This common sense and not fatalism, it means that your faith in God's love and in His ability to bring good out of every experience opens your heart and soul to receive the strength which He yearns to bestow.

In communion with Him you will become fit for Paradise with your beloved.

PET RATTLESNAKE IS PUT TO DEATH

Someone who apparently had the jitter but who refused to give his name, complained to city police yesterday that N. McArthur, 609-12 South Ross street, was keeping a "pet" rattlesnake at his place.

Upon investigation of Assistant Chief Harry Fink and Motorcycle Officer B. A. Hershey, they learned "pet" rattlesnakes are not barred from the city if "maintained in proper quarters." But the kindly Mr. McArthur opined that he wouldn't cause anyone the jitter for the world and asked officer Hershey to bring forth his trusty six-shooter. Officer Hershey brought it forth. The rattler's funeral service was conducted yesterday, interment being at the McArthur place, rear.

A Rare Photo—Zioncheck on the Defensive!

In this rare photograph of Representative Marion Zioncheck on the defensive, the playboy congressman from Seattle is pictured in bed at Gallinger hospital in Washington, D. C., after physicians said he was "suffering from overwork," and prescribed rest. His enforced stay at the hospital, where he was held for observation, punctuated five months of antics. He was jailed five times, married, took a riotous honeymoon, allegedly ejected his landlady from his capital apartment, tried to enlist the aid of President Roosevelt in locating his missing bride, and sought the arrest of Vice President Garner on charges of "conspiracy" to detain her.

WPA FEDERAL MUSIC PROJECT SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA PLEASES IN SEASON'S FIRST CONCERT

By ELEANOR ELLIOTT

Met with the enthusiasm of a large audience last night at First M. E. church, the first Symphony Orchestra concert of the WPA Federal Music project, introduced to music lovers of the community, an organization of professional artists that promises to write musical history in the community.

The program, directed by Leon Eekles, project supervisor, was one of high standards, and opened with a liantly with the overture from a little known opera, "Il Guarany" by Gomez. This overture is typical of its time, and its fine qualities have caused it to live when the opera itself is almost forgotten.

The orchestra, under Leon Eekles' baton, played it with fire and certainty, forming a pleasing introduction to the program to come. Greg's "Lyric Suite No. 1," written for the piano, has been cleverly orchestrated, as was demonstrated in last night's concert. Outstanding perhaps were "Shepherd's Boy" and "March of the Dwarfs" although the remaining two numbers, "Norwegian Rustic March" and "Notturno" were interesting.

Features Cellos
"Scenes Pittoresques" by Massenet, expressed all the grace and charm of the French school in both "Marche" and "Air de Ballet." The latter featured the cello section of the orchestra very interestingly.

Interpolated in the instrumental program was the single vocal number, "The Heavens Tell of Creation." This chorus of 36 voices is also a Federal Music project, and is directed by Dudley Page Harper. Mrs. Harper had the honor of directing not only the chorus, but the orchestra also and met with rousing applause for her achievement. The work of the chorus was in keeping with that of the orchestra as a whole, and was made especially interesting by a trio number sung by Sadie Bell Greene of this city, Edward Boniface of Anaheim and Melville Wing of Fullerton.

Schubert's "Marche" program was resumed with the familiar and always pleasing "Marche Militaire" of Schubert, done with fine musicianship and a robust strength. Of the second group, the Prelude from Schubert's "Cyrano" was especially vital and was played with full appreciation of its charm. "Aragonaire" (Massenet) and "Praeludium" (Jarnet) were in different moods and met with close attention and appreciation.

Bizet's "L'Arlesienne Suite No. 2" was another expression of the French school quite as interesting as the Massenet group. The "Minuet" featured a flute solo that was especially appealing. "Farandole" provided an amazing climax to the evening, for it was easily the most brilliantly played of the entire program.

Mrs. Carrie Leebick, head of the production committee, informed members of the chapter yesterday that plans have been developed for the preparing of 45 Christmas bags to be presented to service men in hospitals.

Warren, secretary of the Santa chapter, reported that very few contributions have been received during the past month. Mrs. Warren also informed members of the chapter that National Field Secretary Mrs. Esther Chaddourn will pay the Santa Ana chapter a visit during the week of June 22.

THIEVES ROB HOME OF SANTA ANA MAN

While the Saylor were absent from home, the burglar walked into the place by the unlocked rear door and ransacked a bedroom, obtaining $3.75 cash; a bed-room, 8-inch by 8-foot rug with gray center; two 4-foot, 6-inch by 26-inch throw rugs; a yellow gold, old type lavaler set with cameo, and a yellow gold old fashioned brooch, total value of which was estimated at $100. ## YOUTH'S BACK IS BROKEN IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Ray Hernandez, 23, of Route 3, Box 404, Santa Ana, who suffered possible broken back, extensive head lacerations and bruises, in an automobile-truck collision at 9 a. m. today, in the intersection of Bush and Wintnersburg roads, a mile east of Oceanview, was in St. Joseph hospital this afternoon, where x-ray examinations are being made.

The Hernandez car, according to an investigation conducted by California Highway Patrol Officer Horace Inge, collided with a truck, operated by a man who, though apparently suffering with painful head injuries, left the scene of the accident shortly after the collision. Officers this noon were still seeking the truck driver.

In another accident, injury-free, involving three cars, Michael Witt, 39 years old, of 1319 North Main, Santa Ana, was one of the drivers. The accident occurred last evening at 101 highway and Katella road, according to investigation of California Patrol Officer Floyd Yoder, as Witt sought to make a left turn. The Witt car first collided with the right rear wheel of a car operated by Almira Hitterdale, 29, 1221 South Garnsey, Santa Ana, and then veered off to collide with the left rear wheel of a car operated by L. R. Wilson, 53, of Tustin.

HASTE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The official excuse for the hasty make-shift reorganization of the house leadership was valid enough, but there was one which was not mentioned.

The White House could not afford to have a fight now. Delay would certainly have caused a serious contest. Mr. Bankhead would undoubtedly have been elected speaker in the end, but who would have become floor leader is uncertain. The only sure thing is that there would have been a split reaching down into the roots of the northern and southern wings of the party organization.

That is why Mr. Bankhead took hold of things immediately. It may be denied now, but President Roosevelt as called out of bed and personally counseled Bankhead in the course taken.

Thus, within eleven hours after Speaker Byrns' death, the whole matter was settled for eight months to come, without a tussle without a murmur and, in fact, before anyone had a chance to speak.

INFLUENCE

What the change means fundamentally is that Mr. Roosevelt now has a really ardent New Deal believer in charge of one house of Congress. Bankhead is far more New Dealish personally than Byrns was.

The Alabamian even likes the Tugwell rural resettlement administration, which is generally considered the ultimate test of White House devotion. He has championed such things as the Cotton Control Act, the Billion Dollar Farm Tenant Bill. He has not said much about the Constitution and has questioned the advisability of spending, but these are his only two faults as far as the New Deal left wingers are concerned.

NOTE.—This is not intended to imply that Byrns was short on loyalty in any respect. The New Dealers howled before his election about his traditional political schooling, but they never had occasion to mention it afterward. Also both Byrns and Bankhead have more friends than any other men in the House. Bankhead was first elected floor leader when he was sick at a hospital.

FIGHT

How the floor leadership would have developed cannot be told. Chairman O'Connor of the rules committee rated the job. It is customary for a rules chairman to step up to the leadership, but O'Connor is Tammany. He has grown greatly in stature at this session, and is well liked, but it is quite well known on the inside that other elements in the party would have contested his succession.

Cloakroom guessers expect that Sam Rayburn of Texas will run against O'Connor next January if the Democrats still have control of the House. There will probably be half a dozen perennial candidates also.

PREPARATIONS

Spain's Balearic Islands are being fortified as a naval base. Of course, everyone will deny it, but the amount already spent and being spent, $50,000,000, is not accounted for either in the Spanish or the local budget; the fortifications are being developed with British equipment, which arrives on British ships and is installed under the supervision of British officials.

The Balearic Islands are so situated as to enable a British naval force there to block Italy's access to the Atlantic Ocean. They would not be of use to the British against any one except Italy.

BOUNTY

In anticipation of Alf Landon's nomination, New Deal accountants have tabulated advances the federal government has made to the state of Kansas.

The big idea is to puncture Mr. Landon's reputation as a budget-balancer. With the national debt sure to hit $35,000,000,000 before the election, the problem is worrying the White House more than it admits Rooseveltians who first welcomed the Kansan's nomination are changing their minds. They fear that his personal traits and official record will offer such a sharp contrast to FDR that it will dramatize him in public opinion.

Latest reports reveal that Kansas has received about $375,000,000 from the federal government since 1933. New Dealers say they could find no record that Mr. Landon opposed these grants, but have found many Kansas requests for more money—at a time when the Governor was reducing taxes. The Landonites reply is that Kansas would have been foolish not to collect its share of federal bounty and bonodoggings.

FOREIGN

The Democratic high command has mobilized key editors from all sections of the country to organize a propaganda bureau for the foreign press, which reaches many millions of voters. They have been called in far ahead of the usual time—and in larger numbers—because European turbulence has had repercussions among racial groups in the United States.

Preliminary canvasses disclose that two of the three great masses of foreign language voters—Italians and Jews—seem to be favorable to Mr. Roosevelt. For a time there was a suspicion that the administration's embargo on shipments, credits, etc., to Italy and Ethiopia. But Italy—Americans seem to feel that the policy was fair to both sides. The Jewish voters interpret certain speeches by President Roosevelt as indicating that he is hostile to Hitler's anti-Jewish policy.

The German bloc are stand-offish, according to present indications. They resent the administration's implied coolness to the Nazi regime. It will be the first job of the foreign language bureau to win back this erstwhile pro-Roosevelt group, for they hold the balance of power in states like Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, etc., and every vote may count before the polls are closed next November.

GHOST

Several unpublished tidbits have been produced as a result of the disclosure that the Schechter family has met only misfortune since it cut the throat of the Blue Eagle. "Schechter," in Jewish, means "the slaughterer." He is the official who kills chickens by a stab in the neck in accord with ancient ritual. Only the Schechters' religionists used the significance of their legal role.

A New York war raised the NRA ghost when President Roosevelt recently attended the Jefferson Day dinner there. The jokester sent this message to the toastmaster: "Don't serve chicken to the President. It might remind him of the 'sick chicken case'."

NOTES

Repeat of the "red rider" having failed, District of Columbia school teachers must take oath every month that they haven't taught communism, or they can't get their checks. Congress can nip up minor matters very quickly if it can agree on tax and relief bills. State Department is quietly pressing Mexico to go easy on American investments threatened by agrarians and labor unions. Another intervention in Nicaragua is among the possibilities. Conservative leaders of the International Longshoremen's Association have been replaced by radicals.

Contract Bridge

By Hazel Parr Thronson

(Certified Master Culbertson Teacher)

The following "double dummy" hand was originated by Charles Sanders of New York:

NORTH
Spades—A-Q-10-6-5-2
Hearts—3
Diamonds—A-6-4
Clubs—7-4-3

WEST
Spades—8-7-2
Hearts—Q-7-5-4
Diamonds—J-7-5
Clubs—J-8-6

SOUTH
Spades—4
Hearts—A-J-8-2
Diamonds—K-Q-9-8
Clubs—A-K-Q-9

Diamonds are trumps and South must make a Grand Slam. West leads the four of hearts as an opening lead, and North and South take all of the tricks.

In the new rules for Contract Bridge the "Dummy" is now called the "Declarer's Partner." The laws governing the right of declarer's Partner are very clearly defined and a few of the most important ones are as follows:

1. Declarer's Partner forfeits all his rights by intentionally looking at the face of a card in a player's hand. Thereafter he must remain silent in regard to an incident connected with the hand, and, if after a defender has committed an irregularity he fails to do so, the declarer cannot enforce any penalty for the offense.

2. If declarer's partner has not intentionally looked at another player's hand he may—

(a) Reply to a player's proper question.
(b) When requested, discuss questions of fact or law.
(c) Question declarer regarding his possible revoke when he has failed to follow suit, as a matter of fact this is a duty to be exercised at all times.

(d) Draw attention to a defender's irregularity and ask partner if he knows his rights, but the two may not discuss which penalty, etc.

4. Declarer's partner has no rights other than the above conditional ones. He does not rank as a player.

5. If Declarer's Partner by touching a card or otherwise suggests the play of a card, the defender on his left may require declarer to play or not to play that card, unless the play of such card would constitute a revoke.

6. If Declarer's Partner, on his own initiative, informs his partner (declarer) which hand has the lead, or warns his partner not to lead from the wrong hand; the defender on the left of declarer's partner may choose a hand from which declarer shall lead.

Incidentally the last rule is broken quite often as we probably

CRAWFORD AND KNUTH NAMED AS TRUSTEES

ORANGE, June 6.—In a hotly contested election yesterday of two members of the Orange Union High school board, featured by a write-in campaign, Earl Crawford, incumbent, representing the city of Orange, and William Knuth, incumbent, representing Villa Park on the board, were re-elected.

Walter Atkinson, candidate from Villa Park who opposed Knuth, received a total of 415 votes and Dr. V. A. Wood, a write-in candidate, received 137. Crawford piled up the largest total of 633 votes, and Knuth followed with 603.

The vote by districts was as follows: El Modena, Atkinson, 13; Crawford, 62; Knuth, 57; Villa Park, Atkinson, 10; Crawford, 33; Knuth, 35; Wood, 4; Olive, Atkinson, 15; Crawford, 46; Knuth, 38; Paralta, Atkinson, 16; Crawford, 17; Knuth, 8; Silverado, Atkinson, 38; Crawford, 48; Knuth, 30; Orange, Atkinson, 322; Crawford, 428; Knuth, 440; and Wood, 183. Holdover members of the high school board are R. W. Evans, of El Modena; O. E. Guenther, of Orange; and E. T. Watson, of Villa Park. In the elementary school district R. C. Patton defeated Floyd Watson, incumbent, by a vote of 334 to 271. Holdover members of the board are William Feldner and Mrs. Marie Ehlert.

At Olive where the contest for a vacancy on the board was between J. A. Maag, incumbent, and George Greder, the result was 43 votes for Maag and nine for Greder. At Silverado Fannie M. Grundy received 49 votes while her opponent, W. R. Miller, received 32. C. A. Robinson was unopposed at El Modena, where Dan Smiley, whose term expired, was not a candidate. Frank H. Collins, incumbent up for re-election on the Villa Park Grammar school board was unopposed.

SUN GLASSES COSTLY

Sun glasses worn by major league outfielders cannot be bought at the drugstore for 50 cents. They run from $10 to $20 a pair.

Eleven and one-half inches of rain fell in one hour and 20 minutes in San Diego county, Calif., on August 12, 1891.

have all noticed. It gets to be a habit with some players to allow others to warn their partners, the declarer, which hand he should lead from or stop him from leading, in the wrong hand. This is positively against the rules and can be penalized accordingly. I feel that if everyone knew this was against the rules they would avoid speaking out of turn. However, if declarer asks his partner which hand the lead is in, declarer's partner may answer the question without penalty.

If declarer does lead from the wrong hand and opponent calls his attention to it and requests him to lead from the correct hand, Declarer's Partner then has the right to question his lead of another suit so as not to constitute an established revoke. For instance if declarer leads a heart from the dummy and after he leads it, a defender calls his attention to the fact that the lead is from his own hand, he must lead a heart if he has one. If he leads some other suit, it is the declarer's partner's duty to ask the declarer whether or not he has any hearts and if so to lead one. Because, in this case if he leads another suit, and has a heart in his hand and the trick is lost, the revoke is established and that means a forfeit of two tricks should he take that many after the revoke. Ignorance of the rules should be no excuse because no matter what the game, it is always more fun and a better game if we abide by accepted and universal rules and laws.

Smiling and unafraid, there are the Santa Ana softball players who, with a little added assistance, take on an all-star San Diego softball team in the Municipal Bowl tonight at 8 o'clock. Left to right, the Santa Anas are the Misses Nettie Wright, "Pat" Collins, Norma Lundak, Opal Manderscheid, Ruth Anderson, Grace Berge, Sally Lundak, Mary Perkins, Phyllis Farquhar and Pauline Chapman. Four regulars—Marge Brown, Bea Forry, "Lennie" Lehnhardt and Ruth Scroggins—will not be able to play. The San Diegans rate as the second best girls' nine in the Southland, having lost only to Lois Terry's McLaglen field troupe.

When the cat's away the mice will play.

And so today, in the cold gray of another dawn, Santa Ana found itself second—not first—in the National Night league baseball standings. On top, at the same old stand, were the familiar colors of Huntington Beach, their apparent to the first-half championship.

When the cat's away the mice will play. . . Believe it or not, the score was Westminster 11, Santa Ana 2.

The "cat" in this case was Jim Coates, and while the ace pitcher of the Stars nursed a lingering sore throat at his home the "mice" in the form of Westminster's lovely Aviators frolicked all over the Municipal Bowl's lawn last night. Stevens, Koral, Chased.

First George Stevens was driven to cover. Then "Bono" Koral, and finally Al Reboin. The Aviators, winner of only one other game this season, combed the Messrs. Stevens, Koral and Reboin for a grand collection of 20 hits. . . . When the cat's away the mice will play.

The slaughter started as early as the second inning when Sauer singled, Morse tripled, Haseot bounced to short and Conrad threw the ball away, and Errington rammed a single to left that Denney let go through him. Three runs came in.

McNabb singled, Sauer tripled and Morse singled for two more in the third. . . . Errington's single that Reboin booted, and Joe Hosack's single made it 6-0 in the fourth. Then followed three scoreless innings. . . . Koral relieved Stevens in the eighth and Westminster began all over again. Harmon and Hosack singled, Montgomery tripled, McNabb singled. . . . In came Reboin to pitch. Hosack singled, Montgomery walked, McNabb walked, Sauer got his fourth hit. . . . When the cat's away the mice will play.

Santa Ana was saved the ignominy of a shutout in the last of the ninth. Reboin doubled and Preble tallied him with a long single. Preble racing to third on the throw-in that bounced over Catcher Lemon and scoring on Coats' infield hit.

Coats' absence was cruel justice for Pitcher "Fuzzy" Errington, making his first start in nearly three weeks. Errington had one of his "on" games, might very well have beaten Coates or anyone else. As it was his victory was not entirely unexpected. . . . Catcher "Bono" Koral and Les Haseot nearly came to blows in the second. Haseot wisely kept his bat in hand while the boys pawed aimlessly at each other. . . . Santa Ana's game at Orange will be run off Monday instead of Tuesday—at Orange's request. . . . The anvil chorus clanged furiously as the Stars took the waxing. . . . "Doc" Smith went to the tall uncut of Errington's long drive in the seventh. . . . The Stars are giving the city physician a run for his money. Coates is sick, Denney is lame and Preble has a chest ailment; neither should be in the game. Smith has a dislocated finger.

Jack Dugan held Anaheim in the hollow of his pitching hand last night as Olive shutout the Valencians, 7-0. Dugan allowed only three hits.

Olive got one in the third on Beaver's single, Dugan's sacrifice and Harnois' single, which was coupled with an error. Two more runs arrived in the fourth on Bell's single, Wallin's single, Foltz's fielder's choice, Gunther's walk and Harnois' single that drove in Bell and Foltz.

"String" McDonnell was driven to the showers in the fifth. Seacord singled and Bell doubled. Wallin's single tallied Seacord and brought Wilbur Stinsonfield to the mound for Anaheim. "Eddy" Foltz greeted him with a home run, scoring Bell and Wallin ahead of him.

COOPER LEADS AT 54TH HOLE: GHEZZI SECOND

(Final golf scores will be found on Page 1)

BALTIMORE COUNTRY CLUB, SPRINGFIELD, N. J., June 6.—(UP)—"Light Horse" Harry Cooper of Chicago, recognized by fellow pros as the hottest shot-maker in the game, blazed out his third consecutive par-shattering round today to take the 54-hole lead in the National Open golf championship with 211.

The partially bald little Chicago sharpshooter was out in 36, even par, and home in 34 for a 70, two under par.

His sensational finish, achieved before a cheering gallery of several hundred, gave him a two-stroke lead over Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., whose 213 had led for several hours.

Denny Shute, former British Open champion, and one of the best finishers in golf, came home with a 72, one over par, to take third place with a 214. Shute was out in 27, and back in 36.

Bunched closely behind these two pacemakers were 10 of the greatest players of the game. At 215 was Ky Laffoon, who had a 70, his second sub-par round of the tournament.

One stroke further behind, at 216, were Ray Mangrum of Pittsburgh, who started the day tied for the lead with Ghezzi; Herman Barron, Jewish ace from White Plains, N. Y., and Ralph Guldahl, from St. Louis. Mangrum faltered in the third round today, shooting a 76, four over par. Barron blazed out a 69 to tie the course competitive record, while Guldahl had a 73.

Wiffy Cox, Washington, D. C., veteran, who also had a 69, and Paul Runyan, "little poison" of the links from White Plains, were tied at 217.

Five players were bracketed at 218—Johnny Revolta of Chicago, who faltered today with a 77; Willie Goggin, Californian who had a 72; Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee-on-the-Delaware siege gun, who shot a 71; old MacDonald Smith, who in one game, and has a home run total second only to Babe Ruth. Those are just a few of his accomplishments in breaking "Denny" Scott's consecutive game record of 1307.

Right now Lou is at the top of his game, batting .360 and leading the league in runs scored. Against Cleveland yesterday he drove in two runs as the Yankees triumphed, 4 to 3.

The second place Boston Red Sox kept pace with an 8 to 6 win over the Chicago White Sox, the seventh consecutive time the Chicagoes have gone down before the Yawkey men. The Detroit Tigers fell before the Washington Senators, 6 to 2, as Carl Whitehill pitched an eight-hitter.

"Dizzy" Dean became the first pitcher in the majors to win 10 games by defeating the New York Giants, 3 to 2, increasing the St. Louis Cardinals' National league lead to four full games.

A 23-hit attack by the Pittsburgh Pirates submerged the Philadelphia Phillies 14 to 8. Van Mungo was just another pitcher to the Chicago Cubs who pounded out a 12 to 3 victory over Brooklyn. Ray Benze scored his fifth triumph as the Boston Bees walked the Cincinnati Reds, 10 to 4.

had a par 72, and Jerry Glanville of East Lexington, Mass. It was estimated that more than 8000 persons were scattered over the picturesque course, following first one player and then another.

With so many great players so closely bunched at the end of 54 holes, a whirlwind finish was guaranteed. And the National Open record of 286, held jointly by "Chick" Evans and Gene Sarazen, seemed headed for destruction.

A young Sac and Fox named Jim Thorpe made the first Olympic junket for Warner, then athletic director of Carlisle, a memorable one in Stockton in 1912.

Robertson, U. S. Olympic Coach Is Pessimistic

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(UP)—Disaster awaits America's athletes at the Olympic Games in Berlin unless they check their present enthusiasm before it develops into a serious case of overconfidence, Lawson Robertson, head coach of the United States track and field team, predicted today.

"Our athletes already are working themselves into the same frame of mind as the 1928 team," Robertson said. "We went to Amsterdam that year with most of our boys looking forward to the Olympics as a pushover. When the last race was over, we had won only one individual running event. We're facing a real battle at Berlin and it will take a squad of athletes in their best mental and physical shape to win the unofficial title."

The 52-year-old U. of Pennsylvania coach does not believe the 1936 team as it appears to shape up now will be any stronger than the 1932 or 1928 team, except, possibly in the high jump and broad jump.

"Maybe I'm a pessimist," Robertson admitted, "but I can't talk about our Olympic prospects in glowing terms. The other countries have learned the technique of all phases of athletics and can match the United States in almost every event and surpass us in some of them."

The five strongest teams at Berlin will be the United States, Germany, Finland, Great Britain and Japan, in Robertson's opinion.

California's varsity, junior varsity and freshman crews were defeated in a three-way sweep by University of Washington shells earlier in the spring. Such was the case in 1934 and 1935 when the California varsity, still smarting from defeats in the Coast regattas, turned the tables on their conquerors.

the amateur who has to turn pro because his opposition ran out, is one of the few athletic writers who does not employ a ghost. . . . He sits down and picks his immortal words without aid of ectoplasm. . . . And it doesn't read at all badly. . . .

Denny Shute, who whammed out a 69 on his second round to take a place only one stroke behind the leaders, bet $50 to 30 to 1 on himself just before the tournament started. . . . So did Mangrum. . . . Tony Manera, the little fellow from Greensboro, N. C., who reached the halfway mark only two strokes off the pace, played himself across the board for $100. . . . He stands to win $2000, which is twice the purse that goes to the open winner. . . . Baltimore's is the only course in America which boasts heather. . . . It's the real Scotch stuff, too, for MacDonald Smith, who has more burrs than a round dog after chasing rabbits through the scrub, plucked some yesterday and wore it in his cap for luck. . . .

Paul Runyan, the "little poison" of the links, talks to his ball as it leaves the clubhead. . . . "Don't go too far, baby," he cries when his approach shots soar toward the green, and "run on, you coward, run on, you coward!" when a putt starts dying on the way to the hole. . . .

Tom Kerrigan, veteran pro of the Siwanut club at Bronxville, N. Y., like old time improves with age. . . . Tom played in the open here in 1915 and ended the second round with an aggregate of 156. . . . This time, 21 years later, he had 145 for two rounds. . . . ### TIME 'MARCHES ON' IN GOLF

Joe Louis Visits Course To See 'Socker' Thomson

SHUTE BETS $50 ON HIMSELF

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., June 6.—A few hooks and fades from the National Open golf championship: When Ray Mangrum, the "Human No. 1 Iron," played in his first tee shot an even 50 yards. . . . "I was still the champion cotton-picker of Texas then, and not much of a golfer," Ray explains. . . . At the 1934 open at Merion Olin Dutra had 150 at the end of the second round, on to win the title. . . . He had 151 at the halfway mark this year and barely qualified for the 26-hole finale. . . . Time, or something, marches on. . . .

Joe Louis paid a visit to the course yesterday and immediately sought out Jimmy Thomson. . . . "I want to watch that fellow who hits so hard," he said. . . . Joe has taken exactly 16 golf lessons in his life, and the other day he took time off from his training for the Schmeling fight to shoot a 98. . . . Louis said he would finish Schulzing in five hours if the Dutchman pulled a Dempsey and weaved. . . . "Those weavers can't hit you a lick unless they stick up their heads, and when they do that anybody oughta be able to knock 'em loose," Joe said. . . .

The golfing critics are putting the blast on the U. S. G. A. for leaving Charley Kociss and Jack Munger off the Walker Cup team. . . . At the halfway mark Kociss, University of Michigan boy who recently won the "Big Ten" title, was only three strokes behind the leaders with 142, and Munger had 144. . . . When a pair of amateurs can stick in there with the greatest professionals in the world for 36 holes, they deserve a place on any team. . . . Lawson Little, the Dutchman pulled a Dempsey and weaved. . . . "Those weavers can't hit you a lick unless they stick up their heads, and when they do that anybody oughta be able to knock 'em loose," Joe said. . . .

Jack Lelivelt Out As L. A. Boss Next Year

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—(UP)—Hints that Jack Lelivelt would not manage the Los Angeles baseball team next season were confirmed today after Club President David Fleming said the manager was considering a scouting berth for next year.

Fleming denied that either he or P. K. Wrigley, owner of the club, desired to oust Lelivelt, saying the manager could retain his post next season if he desired.

The club president said that Lelivelt, who has been in organized baseball for 30 years, recently indicated he wanted an easier job than manager.

Reboin will take command of the Oilers football squad and have complete charge of the Huntington Beach plunge and swimming team, it is understood.

M. G. Jones, principal, verified the reports. "Coach Reboin will not be in a position to sign a formal contract until he completes some study at summer school," Principal Jones stated, "but we have a 'gentleman's agreement' whereby he will join the Huntington Beach athletic department in the fall."

"By attending summer sessions at the University of Southern California, Mr. Reboin will be in a position to acquire general secondary credentials entitling him to full-time work at our school."

It is understood that Huntington Beach officials conferred with school authorities here relative to the Reboin situation and that the young coach's transfer will be effected harmoniously and with the full knowledge of both boards of education.

Coaches Harry Shene and Leon Miner of the Oilers will not be affected by Reboin's shift. Shene is head of the physical education department. He will coach track and continue nominally as the "head man" in football but wants to relinquish much of the gridiron burden. Miner will coach basketball and baseball.

Reboin was graduated from Santa Ana high school in 1931 after a career in football, track and other sports that made him one of the finest all-around athletes ever developed here. He was a three-letter man in football at Southern California. Upon his graduation at Troy a year ago, he returned to Santa Ana as Coach Bill Cook's assistant in football at Santa Ana jaycee. Reboin also handled the Don basketball squad last winter and coached rugby this spring.

Seal Beach Council Gets Land Offer From Bank

LICENSE FEE ON CHIP GAMES GIVEN BOOST

SEAL BEACH, June 6.—A written proposal from the Security First National bank to deed to the city of Seal Beach 120 feet of land at the entrance to the pier on condition that the city either build a new pier or repair the existing one was received by the council at its postponed meeting Friday night. This deed would be placed in escrow until the city fulfilled its part of the agreement.

The bank also asked the city to deed to them nine feet of Seal way in order to make the ocean front lots longer. In return for this the bank agreed to give to the city all of the beach outside of Seal way and extending to the high tide line. This would give to the city a public beach extending from the west entrance of Anaheim bay to the east side of Alamitos bay, a 15 foot alley between Ocean avenue and Seal way would also be vacated to the city. The proposition was referred to the council as a whole for further consideration.

The council was asked by the bank to re-zone the land east of the pier to Dolphin avenue for multiple dwellings with the exception of 142 feet next to the entrance to the pier and to re-zone this for business. This land was zoned by the planning commission for single family residences. A resolution accepting the bid of the Rohl-Connelly company for $145,233 for additional rock to be placed on the Anaheim Bay Jetty was adopted, providing the bid is accepted by the PWA officials. The bid calls for 315 tons of class "A" rock and 300 tons of class "C" rock.

An ordinance raising the license fee for chip games was given its first reading. This will raise the fees from $300 a year to $500 a year. The ordinance requiring tradersmen to pay the full year's license in advance was adopted. Hereafter they have paid their license quarterly. The ordinance fixing the fees for building permits was also adopted. This requires a fee of $1 for buildings less than $50 and a sliding scale for those higher in value.

City Engineer Victor Hayes was asked to draw plans and make estimates of the cost of a comfort station under the pier and report to the council as a committee so that bids might be called for immediately.

As the water well drilled recently for the city was reported as a dry hole, the city engineer was authorized to submit estimates of prices for drilling another well at a new location to a depth of 450 feet and send estimates to PWA engineers.

City Engineer Hayes suggested to the council that the paving of Bay boulevard should be repaired immediately. The matter was referred to Street Superintendent Mechem. Communications were received from Howard H. Harvey and Fred Plannagan asking for positions on the police force.

Brotherhood To Select Officers

GARDEN GROVE, June 6.—Roy Andrews of the Long Beach Goodwill Industry store will speak on work being done by that organization at the meeting of the Alamitos brotherhood Tuesday evening in the Alamitos Friends church. The meeting will open with a dinner at 7 o'clock.

The business will include election of officers. A surprise musical program will be presented, it was announced by President R. E. Nida.

He does not know the whereabouts of his niece, Gail, the rightful owner of the property, REY HALL, Madame Lier's son, is representing the Travers company.

Gail goes with Derek to a reception at the home of the wealthy Mrs. MORTON. LOUIE TRAVERS asks Derek to paint her portrait.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI

NATALIE PRESTON stopped at Gail's door and knocked, but received no answer. She knocked again and still there was no response. "I suppose some of the Seales have come for her," Natalie murmured rather bitterly. It was just like her cousin Mabs to telephone when Natalie was at dinner with Gail. Mabs had said she was at Grand Central station.

Natalie had gone down to wait with her cousin between trains—not even stopping to eat dessert—and then Mabs had discovered that her train didn't leave until 4 o'clock!

Going to her room, Natalie took off her dress and slipped on a filmy negligee of chiffon and lace (she had bought it for a trifle at a sale in the store) and picked up the Sunday newspaper. She turned at once to the "Personal Notices." Why she always looked at them first she couldn't have told you.

Yet there was something exciting in reading these curious ads that might mean a complete change in fortune for some unsuspecting man or woman. Carefully she looked at each one, inwardly commenting on them. Then she gave a queer, staccato-like cry as she read:

"Information wanted about Peter Everett or his heirs, formerly of Hudson Valley Gardens, New York. Suitable reward will be given by a friend. P. O. Box 11, downtown."

Then Natalie went to her desk, and wrote an answer to the advertisement, dressed again and went outside to mail her letter.

"Did you notice this in the newspaper yesterday?" Giles Harding's secretary asked as she handed her employer a paragraph cut from the personal column.

The old lawyer took the clipping from her and read: "Information wanted about

GARDEN GROVE SCHOOL PUPILS GET DIPLOMAS

GARDEN GROVE, June 6.—The Rev. James Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of the First Baptist church of Glendale, gave an address on the subject, "Keys and Keyholes" at the eighth grade graduation exercises held in the Washington school auditorium Thursday evening.

The program opened with the school orchestra under the direction of William Axworthy, playing a march, "A Jolly Scout," Chyette and Overture, "Victory" Otis Taylor followed by the processional, "Pomp and Chivalry," Roberts. Invocation was given by the Rev. William J. Keech, pastor of the Baptist church.

Selections by the Boys' Glee club were "If You Can't Sing Whistle," "Hart-Blight," and "The Old Rags a Moving." The sixth grade chorus, directed by Miss Opal Knox, sang, "The Street Band," Spencer, and "The Bird's Singing School," Townner. Numbers by the Girls' Glee club were "Bob-o-Link," Polly, "Zamecnik and "Laughing Spring," Mozart.

E. L. Marr, commander of the Garden Grove post of the American Legion, presented American Legion medals to Bert Ryssman and Nellie Agnes Vogelzang. Diplomas were presented to a class of 96 graduates by S. R. Fitz, superintendent of schools, and G. Allen, member of the school board.

After singing of the school song benediction was given by the Rev. Mr. Keech.

The GLAMOROUS ADVENTURE

by Jean Seivwright

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GAIL EVERETT, ambitious to become a designer, comes to New York and—due to a stroke of luck—is hired by MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.

DEREK HARGREAVES, young artist, is interested in Gail, and offers her friendly advice. Presumably she sees DICK SEARLES, whose sister, ROSA MARY, was her roommate at school.

Meanwhile, in Arizona, MARK CHAPMAN, long a wanderer, returns to find his old home in the hands of the Travers Mining Co. Mark suspects the deal is crooked. He does not know the whereabouts of his niece, Gail, the rightful owner of the property. REY HALL, Madame Lier's son, is representing the Travers company.

Gail goes with Derek to a reception at the home of the wealthy Mrs. MORTON. LOUIE TRAVERS asks Derek to paint her portrait.

NATALIE PRESTON stopped at Gail's door and knocked, but received no answer. She knocked again and still there was no response. "I suppose some of the Seales have come for her," Natalie murmured rather bitterly. It was just like her cousin Mabs to telephone when Natalie was at dinner with Gail. ### Party Held For Beach Graduates

OCEANVIEW, June 6.—Complimenting several school friends who are seniors of the Huntington Beach union high school, Miss Edith Brush was hostess at a lawn party recently at her home on Huntington Beach boulevard. Refreshments were served by the hostess following a number of games.

Included in the group were Helen Brown, Lily Sizer, Max Phillips, Minnie Sizer, Dale Walker, Merrill Crane, Marvin Penhall, Olive Meridith, Evelyn Hunstall, Harold Schuth, Alvin Graham, Elaine Ensign, Earl Van Uden, Albert Ensign, Mrs. Peters and Phyllis Brush.

SCHOOL STUDENTS HOLD EXERCISES

WESTMINSTER, June 6.—Exercises for the 40 graduates of Westminster school were held Thursday evening with Armand Dell, representing the school board, presenting the diplomas. The class was introduced by Superintendent of Schools Orion Bebermeyer. Francis Dell was presented with a parting gift by the class. The auditorium was crowded for the exercises.

Medals were presented by L. E. Mitchell for the Joseph Rodman post of the American Legion. Receiving awards were Betty Crenshaw and Earl Tretin.

The invocation was by the Rev. Murray J. Pallett of the Midway City Nazarene church. The class play, "Raspberry Red," a two-act play by a cast of 13 class members, concluded the program, and in the intermission Clyde Day entertained with several of his magical frogers.

Willis Fogler was president of the class, Earl Tretin, vice president; Mitsuko Yamaguchi, treasurer and Geraldine Logan, secretary.

Cooper, resigned her position as principal of the school a few months ago and will move to Santa Ana.

Teachers present were Mrs. Charles Crumrine, Mrs. Russell Schwarz, Mrs. LeRoy Wylie, Miss Ellen Miller and the hostess, Mrs. Griswold.

had invited her to lunch at such a fashionable hotel. There was no likelihood of encountering Gail there in the middle of the day. As she taxied across town Natalie had no misgivings about her errand.

So when Natalie entered the hotel she was not surprised when an attractive, middle-aged woman approached her. "Is this Miss Preston?" the woman asked in a pleasant voice.

"Yes, I'm so glad to meet a friend of Peter Everett's!" Natalie exclaimed.

"You know," she went on, when they had settled themselves at a small table, "I really hesitated to put that advertisement in the paper, for somehow I always feel as though those advertisements are for lost heirs, and of course I've no fortune for the Everetts." She smiled disarmingly.

"Well, I don't imagine Gail is looking for one."

"I'm going to tell you exactly why I advertised. Years ago my father and Peter Everett were quite friendly. My father is an artist, too, though he's quite an old man now, and an invalid. He often asks about his old friends, but after Peter Everett went abroad we lost all trace of him. Now, I'd like to be able to tell my father something about his old friend. Father spends so much time in bed and gets so tired of things, I'm always thinking of surprises for him."

"How sweet of you. I'm sorry to tell you, though, that Mr. Everett has been dead for three years." Natalie graphically repeated the story Gail had told about her father.

"Oh, that's too bad! I must keep this from my father. It's better to let him think he's still traveling in Europe than that he's gone. But hadn't he any children?" she asked kindly.

"Yes, one daughter—Gail."

Miss Barton smiled in such a disarming way that she soon learned where Gail was living and where she worked.

"Well, I'm certainly glad to have met you," Mrs. Barton concluded, opening her handbag. "I wonder if you'd accept $25? You know I offered a reward. Do you think that's enough?"

"Why, yes," more than enough. I don't feel right about taking it, for Gail's a friend of mine and knowing how few friends she has in the city I'd have been glad to tell her I'd gotten in touch with some of them."

"Oh, well, you can always use a little extra money," Mrs. Barton handed her the bills.

HOLLYWOOD—Settin' Around (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio): After nine week's shooting the "Good Earth" unit professes to be fairly well started. The troupe's slogan: "We'll be out of Chinese makeup by Thanksgiving." For this picture the studio rounded up every available English-speaking Chinese (never call them Chinamen!) on the West Coast. Chief among them is William Law, most influential citizen of San Francisco's populous Chinatown. A millionaire in his own name and a Stanford graduate, he is playing in the picture for the fun of it. China sent General Theodore Tu to watch production and make sure nothing detrimental to the nation is photographed. General Tu explained to me about a story I have heard many times, that Chinese eat mice. They do, but not the common variety that steal your cheese. Chinese peasants eat field mice that are cousins to our red squirrel, and a very delicate dish the field mouse is, says General Tu.

Stuart Erwin for all his dumb screen portrayals, is a shark on poetry—or does that qualify him the more for his dumb roles? In school he captured many awards for his clever rhyming. In spare minutes today, "Stu" pursues his hobby; he writes poems to and for his wife, June Collier. But all is not well: "She doesn't appreciate my poetry," he mourns.

As I prepared to leave after a chat with Joan, Mrs. Fred Astaire arrived for a visit. Studio photographers begged for a picture of Miss Crawford and Mrs. Astaire together, but no go; Mrs. Astaire does not like to be photographed.

Bumped into Clark Gable loafing between stages (having time out from "San Francisco"). As usual he had the hunting fever. He hopes to go to Africa late this year or next spring. Gable, like any true huntsman, speaks of a female cougar as "she" and a male cougar as "tom." All lions and cougars are "cats." Today Gable had a ghastly gash on his cheek and his clothes were blood-marked. Makeup, of course, for his picture. And do you know that makeup never fools the naked eye for a moment? It is overdone because the camera subtles the effect.

And hopes for blossoms. Her son wishes her to visit him: But how can she go just now? The larkspur might bloom while she was away. And the little chickens—almost time for them to hatch. On Sunday she turns her thoughts to death. How can she leave on the longest of all journeys? —KEEPSAKES.

Ken Maynard film closes state run. "Heroes of the Range" with Ken Maynard in the starring role, shows at Walker's State theater for the last times on tonight's program. This is a stirring picture of the days of the old west, according to Manager Vic Walker, and is packed with thrills and adventure. June Gale is the leading lady. Other subjects on the program are: "Summertime," a color cartoon; "All Business," a Ford Sterling comedy, a new reel and a chapter of "The Miracle Rider" with Tom Mix.

Arrange Meeting Of Civic Group. GARDEN GROVE, June 6.—At the regular meeting of the chamber of commerce in the chamber office Tuesday evening a nominating committee will be appointed. Election of a new board of directors will be held in July, at which time the committee will report.

'OLD KENTUCKY'
WALKER STATE

A glorious romance under Kentucky skies to the tune of racing hoofs is the theme of the Will Rogers picture, "In Old Kentucky," which heads the bill at Walker's State theater for three days starting tomorrow.

Set in the heart of the blue grass country, the story revolves about horse loving people and concerns the feuds, wrangles, romance and drama in their lives. Rogers is cast as a shrewd and philosophical horseman who aids the romance of the young members of two families who long have warred against each other. These roles are taken by Dorothy Wilson and Russell Hardie. Charles Sellon, Bill Robinson, of tap dance fame, Louise Henry and Alan Dinehart also are in the cast.

The picture presents a series of hilarious adventures as Rogers guides the sweethearts to a tremendously exciting race track climax.

The second feature is "Grand Exit," the story of an ace fire investigator, with Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothern in the leading roles. Lowe is a private fire detective and the story shows how firebugs work and are caught. Many thrills are included, as well as romance.

H. G. WELLS FILM
AT FOX BROADWAY

"Things to Come," H. G. Wells' story of the future which has been playing to large audiences at the Fox Broadway theater, will come to a close with tonight's showing. In addition to the main attraction a second feature, "Three on a Trail," is proving most popular.

"Things to Come" is something new in the way of pictures and one of the most awe-inspiring films ever screened.

It deals with the destruction of the world by war and its rebuilding by scientists.

A trip to the moon in a rocket plane is one of the outstanding dramatic scenes of the picture.

"Three on a Trail," Clarence E. Mulford's famous story stars William Boyd as "Hop-along Cassidy."

A Terrytoon "Rolling Stone" and a Fox News reel completes the program.

EDWARD ROBINSON
FILM ENDS TONIGHT

"Bullets or Ballots" with Edward G. Robinson and Joan Blondell will come to a close this evening at the West Coast theater after a most successful run.

"Bullets or Ballots" is one of the most outstanding pictures of Robinson's career. He goes back to his gangster role and outdoes anything of the past. However, he takes the other side of the eternal fight between gangster and detective by siding in with the law enforcement officers.

In addition to "Bullets or Ballots" another excellent film is screened in "The Harvester" with Alice Brady and Russell Hardie in the leading roles.

A color cartoon and a news reel round out the program.

SCHOOL HEAD HONORED. OCEANVIEW, June 6.—Complimenting Superintendent of Schools J. R. Peterson, and Mrs. Peterson, who will be away from Oceanview until the re-opening of school in the fall, members of the faculty gave a farewell beach party at Huntington Beach this week. Those in the party included Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, the honorees; Miss Helen Schoenbergh, Miss Edyth Spencer, Miss Ruth Spencer, Roscoe Bradbury, Paul Beaty, Mrs. Luther Jayne, Miss Genevieve White, Mrs. Mildred Moulton, Miss Phyllis Jamison, Miss Brockmon.

'DANCING PIRATE' TO OPEN THURSDAY
AT FOX BROADWAY

"Dancing Pirate" with Charles Collins, Frank Morgan and Steffi Duna, an 100 per cent color picture and "Border Flight" starring Francis Farmer, John Howard and Roscoe Kerns will open for three days at the Fox Broadway theater next Thursday, according to announcement made today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Gay comedy, punctuated with terpsichorean and musical surprises, permeates "Dancing Pirate," the first dancing romance ever filmed in the new 100 per cent Technicolor.

The story, beginning with brief action in Boston when that city had not yet got around to eulogizing the bean, moves rapidly to early Spanish California and humorously reveals a phenomenon of love. Because of the emotion, one very fastidious, decorous and esthetic young Bostonian becomes a swashbuckling, hard fighting Romeo and wins the heart of a fiery Spanish beauty.

The title role is in the hands—and the feet—of Charles Collins, the screen's new dancing sensation. The girl is portrayed by Steffi Duna. The comedy is personified mainly by Frank Morgan, whose role as the "Alcade" (mayor), is said to provide him with opportunities equal to those he capitalized upon in "The Affairs of Cellini."

Musical and terpsichorean highlights include old California Spanish dances, as interpreted by the Royal Caninos, and the introduction of a new dance rhythm, Hupango (Whop-an-go), now the rage of Mexico City.

The cast also has Luis Alberni, Victor Varconi, Jack LaRue and Wm. V. Mong in humorous characterizations. Lloyd Corrigan directed; Robert Edmond Jones designed the color, and the music and lyrics are by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart.

1ST FUN FILM TO OPEN AT WALKER'S
NEXT WEDNESDAY

Brought for the first time to Santa Ana, Walker's State theater presents "The Widow From Monte Carlo" on its program next Wednesday and Thursday.

This film, which is a hilarious comedy romance, concerns the adventures of a Duchess, played by Dolores Del Rio, seeking diversion after the death of her husband. A debonaire major, played by Warren William, provides a series of exciting and romantic moments for the widow. Colin Clive is cast as British diplomat and Louise Fazenda as the wife of a wealthy marmalade manufacturer.

The second feature is "Navy Wife," a dramatic story of the nursing corps and medical corps of the Navy, punctuated with comedy and rich with romance. Claire Trevor and Ralph Bellamy have the romantic leads. The play is from a Kathleen Norris story.

MARION DAVIES AND POWELL CO-STARRED

"Hearts Divided" starring Marion Davies and Dick Powell will be the feature attraction at the Broadway theater starting Sunday, June 14, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain. "Trapped by Television," a feature with Lyle Talbot and Mary Astor, also will be shown on the same program.

Miss Davies portrays the part of Betsy Patterson, the Baltimore belle for whom Napoleon Bonaparte tossed aside a crown. As Betsy, Miss Davies wears some of the most amusing, adorable and delightful hats that have been seen for many a day. And, strangely enough, they are almost identical with some of the newest and latest fashions worn today by our smartest actresses and social leaders.

AT BROADWAY ON SUNDAY

Grace Moore, whose Golden voice will ring out tomorrow from the screen at the Broadway theater in "The King Steps Out" with Franchot Tone in the supporting role to the great diva. Miss Moore's new picture is said to be the best she has ever made.

STARRED AT WEST COAST

WILL ROGERS FILM AT STATE

Pounding hoofs and racing hearts are featured in Will Rogers' last picture, "In Old Kentucky" which will be presented by Walker's State theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with Dorothy Wilson, Russell Hardie and Bill Robinson in the cast.

SCREEN SUNDAY TO BROADWAY

Loretta Young and Franchot Tone form a delightful new romantic screen team in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Unguarded Hour," which Manager Lester J. Fountain has booked for a five day run at the West Coast theater, beginning tomorrow.

The new picture, filled with romance, drama and mystery gives both players an excellent opportunity for their talents.

"The Country Beyond," starring Rochelle Hudson and Paul Kelly is on the same program which further includes a cartoon and a Fox news reel.

Moving with lightning speed, "The Unguarded Hour" concerns a prosecuting attorney who sends men to their doom by his brilliant use of circumstantial evidence. When he is caught by circumstances for a crime he has not committed his wife comes to his aid to save his life.

Both Tone and Miss Young are outstanding in their respective roles as the attorney and the wife. Roland Young, as the friend of the family, is exceedingly funny while Lewis Stone is sterling as head of Scotland Yard. Others who score in the mystery thriller, directed by Sam Wood are Robert Greig, Dudley Digges, Jessie Ralph, Aileen Prince and Henry Daniell.

A real-life drama of dogdom is finding its counterpart in motion pictures as Buck, giant St. Bernard star of "The Call of the Wild," returns to the screen as the canine hero of "The Country Beyond," the second half of the double bill. In the picture, "Buck's" savage enemy is a great Dane named Prince, and the brilliantly staged battle to the death between the two is the dramatic highspot of the story.

'FIRST BABY' WILL
FOX WEST COAST

The first kiss was thrilling, the first year was fun, but the first baby really started things bubbling.

Telling a robustly real story about a couple of sweet youngsters and their adventures in parenthood, the new Fox picture, "The First Baby," has been booked by Manager Lester J. Fountain for a full week's run beginning Friday, June 12.

With this picture will be Spencer Tracy's latest and biggest triumph "Fury" with Sylvia Sydney playing the feminine lead. A cartoon and news reel rounds out one of the best double bills to be seen at the West Coast in recent weeks.

Featuring Johnny Downs, who was recently seen in Irvin Cobb's "Everybody's Old Man," and Shirley Deane, "The First Baby" is a true to life love story about young newlyweds, whose smallest worry is a baby boy, and whose biggest is "in-law" trouble.

Married on Johnny's five-dollar raise, they accede to the nagging of Marjorie Gatenon, the girl's mother, and set up home with her. After the baby arrives, conditions become intolerable, so with

Once again the golden voice of Grace Moore rings out from the screen in Columbia's new musical romance, "The King Steps Out," which has been booked by Manager Lester J. Fountain for four days beginning tomorrow, at the Fox Broadway theater.

It is the diva's third picture since her return to the screen in the sensational successful "One Night of Love" in 1934, the other film being "Love Me Forever," which also was well received.

On this occasion Miss Moore has for her leading man Franchot Tone, who has grown in a short time into one of the most popular stars on the screen. Tone is seen in the role of Emperor Francis Josef, who woos one daughter of Duke Maximilian—played by Walter Connolly—and finally marries another. The other, one might safely presume, would be the lovely Grace Moore.

Also seen in leading roles are Raymond Walburn, engaging character actor who will be fondly remembered for his drunken politician in "Thanks a Million," his valet in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" and other characterizations; and Victor Jory, the Oberon in "Midsummer Night's Dream" and leading man in many other pictures. As for Walter Connolly, he has recently been seen prominently in "She Couldn't Take It" and "The Music Goes Round."

The music in "The King Steps Out" was written by Fritz Kreisler, who is accepted to be the world's outstanding exponent of the violin and a composer of classical caliber. His famed composition "Caprice Viennois" is sung in the film by Miss Moore, with lyrics by Dorothy Fields, who also penned the words for the other Kreisler music in the picture.

The second half of the double bill features Everett Edward Horton and Glenda Farrell in "Nobody's Fool," "Through the Mirror," a Mickey Mouse in color and a Fox news reel complete this super attraction.

TWO FILMS BOOKED

Two of the finest pictures to be released this year will come to the Fox West Coast theater on Friday, June 19, for a full week's engagement, according to Lester J. Fountain, manager.

"Three Wise Guys," with Robert Young and Betty Furness and "Dracula's Daughter," with Otto Kruger, Gloria Holden, Margaret Churchill are the two pictures. In addition to a cartoon and a news reel will be included on the program.

the aid of Taylor Holmes, the girl's father, Johnny sets up a series of apartment.

Before they can occupy it, however, Johnny and Betty Deane break up because she believes he has been attentive to Dixie Dunbar.

Johnny sneaks his little son out for an airing one afternoon, and in a sudden rainstorm, the baby catches cold. In the touchingly human climax, the baby's illness finally unites his parents and prepares them to resist "in-law" interference forever.

Lamar Trotti authored both the original and the screen story for this picture. Jane Darwell, Marjorie Gatenon and Gene Lockhart are prominently featured in the supporting cast.

Beatrice West Worst of Fullerton tells with her own rare charm of two of her neighbors.

KEEPSAKES

Now I am my neighbor's friend. For she has shown me her possessions:

Shells from Pensacola and shells from Catalina. That her grandfather carried about in his pockets. When he was old and childish; Gray shells. And white star-shells. That no one might touch until he died. When they were divided among his grandchildren.

She showed me a compass. For keeping straight with the earth. And a little red clay god. Some ancient priest had lost in the Peruvian forest.

Her Angora cat lay in my lap and purred. And dug his claws into my knees. She gave me a pale pink shell. For my own.

Now we are friends.

My neighbor is very old. On Sundays she reads her Testament. And turns her thoughts to death. On Monday she plants flowers. And then waits for the seeds to sprout. Every day she waters them.

Family Friend Of June Bride Plans Shower

That close friendship which existed between Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon and the late Mrs. W. L. H. Benton during the years of the Rev. Mr. Benton's pastorate of Episcopal Church of the Messiah, was exemplified today when Mrs. Haddon complimented Miss Kate Benton at a luncheon and gift shower.

On Thursday, June 11, Miss Benton is to be wedded in the family home at La Crescenta, to Leonard Field of Fort McArthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary M. Field of Orange. Because of this imminent event, Mrs. Haddon assembled many friends of the bride-elect's school days in this city, for a luncheon, bridge party and shower in her home, 202 1-2 South Sycamore street.

Quite charming arrangements of flowers, linens, silver and crystal were details of the luncheon hour, and equipment for the after-luncheon bridge play was in the same colorful theme of the spring flowers used in such profusion. Many of these blossoms were sent by friends of the hostess, including Mrs. James L. Allen, Mrs. N. A. Beals and Mrs. Harry Spencer.

Shower features of the party were reserved for the finale, and Miss Benton found herself the possessor of all sorts of cleverly modern kitchen equipment selected by the guests. This interval was taken by the hostess, Mrs. Haddon, as opportunity to present the bridal gift she had chosen for Miss Benton and Mr. Field. This was a handsome bonbon dish in solid silver.

Miss Jean Battersby accompanied Miss Benton from La Crescenta for the party whose guest list included also the Misses Frances Knudson, Katherine Chapman, Frances Egge, Lou Pomeroy, Mary Pomeroy, Dorothy Jardine, Marian Cruickshank, Boyd Joplin, Virginia Berry, Eleanor Crookshank and Bernice Boyd; Mesdames Edmund West, Lyman Farwell, Ronald E. Vincent, Glenn Mathis, Albert J. Ambling, E. Floyd Hubbard, Kingsley Tuttle, Lawrence Minge, Charles Weber, Russell Wilson, John Lacy Taylor, Kenneth Conner, of this community; Mrs. Edward Field of Van Nuys; Mrs. Theo. ### Supper Party Follows Rehearsal for McCormac-Lutes Rites

When Miss Jeannette Lutes becomes the bride of Halstead McCormac tomorrow afternoon she will carry as the "something old," a dainty lace handkerchief which belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother, the late Mrs. W. Halstead of this city.

The rehearsal was presented to the bride-elect recently at a supper party in the home of Mr. McCormac's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCormac, 112 Church street. Shared by members of the wedding party, relatives and close friends of the betrothed couple, the supper was sequel to a wedding rehearsal in First Methodist Episcopal church.

Assisting Mrs. McCormac in hostess duties were the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. R. R. Lutes, and Mrs. Harry McCormac. Dollies appointed the mahogany table centered with yellow and orchid flowers lighted by white tapers in silver holders. This setting had been arranged for Miss Lutes and Mr. McCormac and members of their wedding party. Other guests were seated at smaller tables.

Seated with the engaged couple were the Misses Helen Wisseman, Ruth Rimer, Katherine Chapman, Vera Beers, Isabel McCormac; Messrs Holland Whittington, Harold Lutes, Frank Mansur, Richard Robbins, all of this community, Earl Imel of Los Angeles.

Others present were Dr. and Mrs. George Warner, the Rev. W. J. Hatter; Messrs and Mesdames Edwin Dunning, Lynn Graves, R. R. Lutes, J. W. McCormac, Harry McCormac and little daughter, Jeanne; Mrs. Richard Robbins, Mrs. Earl Imel, Miss Ruth Armstrong, Miss Laura Joiner, and Louis Silva of Los Angeles.

The marriage of Miss Schorle and Mr. Easterly was a late May event in Santa Ana Wedding Chapel. They honeymooned in Sequoia and Yosemite National parks, and returned to make their home in this city. The bride will have the brightest of modern kitchenware in her new home, as the result of Thursday's party.

A note for Mrs. Easterly gave her instructions as to how to find her shower packages, which proved to contain pantry supplies of varied nature. Expressing her thanks to the donors of the gifts, the bride invited all the shower guests to her home, 642 North Van Ness avenue, for Sunday morning breakfast.

Refreshments were served at the evening's close. In the group were Mesdames J. F. Schorle, G. W. Easterly, James Ladd, E. Leatherwood, A. Weatherford, L. F. Moore, O. H. Johnson, Halle Tiptip, L. P. Betts, Ralph Chapman, Edith Monroe, Miss June Schorle, with the hostess and her honoree.

Father and Son Serve As Joint Hosts at Surprise Party

Plans which were worked out in detail by Clyde Cook and his 9-year-old son, David Cook, resulted most happily last night when arrival of a group of close friends at their home, 1415 West Fourth street, gave the first intimation to Mrs. Cook that she was being complimented at a surprise birthday party.

The father and son hosts had assistance of Miss Beulah Purkey in carrying out their plans, and bridge was chosen as the entertainment feature of the evening. High scores were made by Messrs. Reese Green and Stuart Carrier, who were rewarded with attractive prizes.

To conclude the happy evening, refreshments were served buffet style from a dining table where a bowl of deep red roses glowed in the light of green candles placed in silver candlesticks. Candles flickered too on the decorated birthday cake served with ice cream, wafers, candy and coffee.

Mrs. Cook and her young son had as party guests with the patronesses, her father, Robert Alton, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lutz, Dr. and Mrs. Nell Halpin, Mr. and Mrs. Reese H. Greene, Miss Levenia Scott, Miss Hazel Dawson, Miss Beulah Perkey and Stuart Carrier.

Pioneer Corps Members Enjoy Varied Program

Reminiscent of the early days of Sedgwick W.R.C. Pioneer club were quotations and articles read Thursday afternoon during the organization's monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Johanna Cole, 711 North Main street. Flowers and potted plants served as decorations.

Mrs. Helen Kellogg Aubin displayed a souvenir book of quotations and photographs presented to her many years ago by pioneer members of the corps.

Mrs. Fanny Cunningham opened the program with a poem, "June." Mrs. Hannah Huntington read a poem, "Who Will Tell The Story When The Boys In Blue Are Gone?" contributed by Grand Commander-in-Chief of the G.A.R., Comrade Oley Nelson. Mrs. Rose Wiers called upon her memory for one of the lovely things which she so often recites.

The president, Mrs. Emma Mosbaugh, who has been ill, was welcomed to the meeting.

Refreshments of fruit salad, macaroons and coffee were served at a long table centered with sweet peas and appointed with cunning little dolls dressed to represent a June bridal party. Mrs. Cole was assisted in serving by her sister, Mrs. Jennie Whitney, and a granddaughter, Miss Geraldine Cole.

Present were Mesdames Emma Mosbaugh, Elizabeth McLeod, Maud Wallace, Fanny Cunningham, Johanna Cole, Abbie Vandermaast, Rose Diers, Alice Kryhl, Helen Kellogg Aubin, Hannah Huntington, members; and a guest, Mrs. Elizabeth Birkhead.

The next meeting will be held July 2 in the home of Mrs. Cunningham, 205 North Flower street.

Student Recital

Third and final in the series of spring recitals of the Visel-Haughton studios, is the event announced for tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Willard auditorium, where intermediate pupils will be presented in a varied program.

Special features of the program will include a dance exhibition by Margaret Rees, new dance instructor at the studios, Miss Rees, who studied under Miss Lyndal and is now dancing in the Myra Kinch concert group, not only will add numbers to the program but will present a few pupils in creative dance studies.

The other featured numbers are two sketches written by Margaret Gower. Was especially for the occasion. Both have been directed by Holly Lash Visel and Lois Rees Auer. The first, "It Could Really Happen," is an amusing little skit dealing with proper and improper diet for children. "The Wish" is the title of the second sketch, which is laid in a Gypsy camp in the seventeenth century.

The fanciful little tale concerning two young maidens who have wandered into the desert and excited the ridicule of the Gypsies, gives opportunity for the Gypsies, dances and other features climaxed with the working of magic whereby one is transformed into an extremely modern maid who sings for the camp.

In addition to several of Mrs. Auer's pupils who will appear in this sketch, will be Jean Humpbell in a monologue, "Lucille Gets Ready for a Dance."

Miss Carolyn Haughton will present various piano pupils including little Miss Audrey Harrell who took first place in her division at Los Angeles Festival of Allied Arts. She will play her prize-winning number, "Puck" (Grieg). The Misses Virginia Campbell and Carolyn Wells will play several two-piano numbers.

A SERMONETTE "COME TO CHURCH CAMPAIGN"

By C. W. GALLIPO, Captain
Santa Ana Branch Salvation Army

CAPT. C. W. GALLIPO

"Blessed Are the Pure in Heart: For They Shall See God." Matt. 5:8

What a wonderful, inspiring, magnetic statement to begin His earthly ministry with. They are the words of the Savior and found in the text of the greatest of all sermons, the "Sermon on the Mount." They compose one of God's "Precious Promises" to struggling humanity.

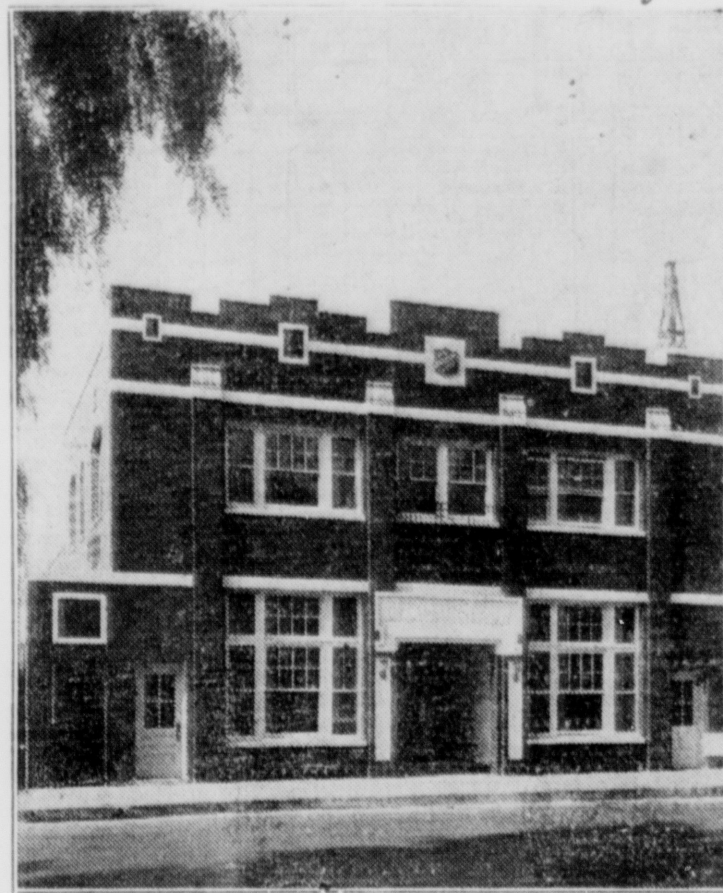

Entwined in the beauty and riches of this verse are the three most deep seated passions of the human soul. First to be—

Blest

That the kindness and favor of God might be ours. To know that His smile of approval shines on our lives. To be conscious that His guardian angel is hovering near to guard and protect us from harm. To possess the "Peace that passeth all understanding." Blest by God!

In the quiet of evening after the day's work is done we hear His "still small voice speaking." When sickness lays us low, there is that drawing, tugging at the hearts door, lifting us Heavenward. When we are all alone with our thoughts, there surges up through our being the eternal longing to be blest by the Father. Thoughts that are only known by you and God. Divine pleadings and inward prayers no other ears can hear. They burst through the bars of doubt and fear. They carry us out of a world of worry and struggle. They come stealing over our heart and mind like the soft sweetness of an evening breeze, like a cup of cold water to parched lips.

Falling from the mouth of an Angel the Virgin Mary caught the words, "Blessed art thou among women," and she carried them deep in her heart. The Publican came to pray, "Lord be merciful to me a sinner," and it is written he went away "Justified."

Santa Ana Citadel — Third and Sycamore Street

From the souls depths of both Saint and sinner rises the unquenchable desire to be blest by God with a—

Pure Heart

A heart that puts its faith and trust in the true and living God and knows no other. A heart that is undefiled and unmarred by the ravages and desolation of sin. Large hearts, large enough to live above the fog that would quench their sinning or chill their warmth. Beautiful hearts, that will live to be their "Brothers Keeper" on this strange journey that we travel but once. Whole hearts, that may be indwelt by the King of Kings. Fervently the prayers go up, "Oh Lord, give me a Pure Heart, and by Divine grace and mercy comes the answer back from high Heaven with the gift He 'loves to bestow,' 'a new heart will I give thee.' What rejoicing! The assurance has come! What a deep settled peace thrills their being 'for they shall—'

See God"

Man was created by God, made in the image of God, imbreathed by Gods breath to become a living soul, created and designed to love and serve God, and man will never find peace or satisfaction without God. We belong to Him. You are an eternal creation, a part of a Divine plan. Why shouldn't our hearts thrill when we look Heavenward and sing the old song "I want to be among that number, when the Saints go marching in." We shall see God!

The hardships, the trials and sacrifices of this life will all seem as nothing then for "We'll exchange the cross for a crown, And our burdens forever lay down."

"God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes . . . and they shall hunger and thirst no more . . . and there is no night there." Hallelujah!

Kind acknowledgement is made to the Register and donors for this space.

THE TINY TINKLES

"Don't worry," said the hamster, "we, of course, will make a point to see all the donkey's legs are put on absolutely right."

"Why, if we made but one all wrong, he'd wobble as he moved along, and also it would make the beast appear a funny sight."

"I think he's funny, anyway," the Tinkles heard wee Duncy say. "I'll bet that I know one mistake that you three tools have made."

"Oh, tell us," snapped the hamster. "We have been as careful as could be. We'll quickly rectify it, so you need not be afraid."

"Well," little Duncy said, "right now the beast is on a stand, so how do you think he can use his legs? I think they're fastened tight."

"Ha, ha," the slim saw laughed in glee. "He can step off the stand, you see. The peg holes are real large, so everything will be all right."

Another half hour passed, and then the Tinkles started cheering when the hamster said, "Our task is finished. There's your little beast."

"The work was fun, and we liked it. Now, watch me make him move a bit!" And, when he did, the interest of the Tinkles was increased.

"I'll bet he's hungry," Scouty cried. "You all wait here. I'll run outside and gather up some long grass. That is bound to be a treat."

As he went dashing through the door, the three small tools began to roar. Said one, "It's funny that he thinks a wooden beast can eat."

"Don't tell him till he tries it out, and then you all can laugh and shout!" Then Scouty came back with the grass, as thrilled as he could be.

He tried the feeding for a while. Then, when he saw the Tinkles smile, said, "I know what's the matter, and I guess the joke's on me."

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

A QUARTER century after the American Revolution, England entered a European conflict which led her to impress American seamen for her navy. James Madison, one of the framers of the new Constitution, became president in 1809 and tried vainly to settle the issue with England peacefully. But impressment continued, and in 1812 Madison declared war—the first war of the United States since its independence. It lasted two years, and it established American rights on the seas.

Madison was one of Thomas Jefferson's disciples and a leader of the Jeffersonian party. He had been secretary of state under Jefferson for the entire two terms. Thanks to his knowledge of shorthand, the proceedings of the convention of 1787, which framed the Federal Constitution, have been saved for posterity.

In his second term, Madison approved the establishment of a national bank, after having vetoed the measure previously. When his term ended in 1817, he retired. He died in 1836, at the age of 85. His portrait appears on the $2 stamp, first issued in 1894, then in 1903.

EIGHTH GRADE STUDENTS HOLD FINAL PROGRAM

INSTALLATION CONDUCTED BY WOMAN'S CLUB

BREA, June 6.—Commencement exercises for the eighth grade class of the Brea grammar school were held Thursday night in the Community clubhouse, the program opening with the processional played by the Brea grammar school orchestra under the direction of William Phillips.

The address of welcome was given by Donald McMahon, an honor roll student. Three numbers were sung by the a Capella choir, with Miss Edith Maxson directing.

Presentation of the eighth grade Lions' club award was made by the president of the club, J. R. Collins, and went to Juanita Summers, high student on the honor roll. Two awards in citizenship, given by the Brea post of American Legion through Rev. A. F. Laing, went to an eighth grade boy, Virgil Muzzall, and a seventh grade girl, Doris Phillips.

The class was presented by W. E. Fanning and accepted by R. W. Phelps, chairman of the school board, who then presented each member with a diploma. The guest speaker was Arthur Corey, assistant superintendent of county schools, his topic being "The Next Ten Years." The speaker was presented by Vincent Jaster, principal of the grammar school.

Twelve students made up the honor roll. They were Juanita Summers, Donald McMahon, Esther Mathews, Rachel Gale, Rose and Charles Doty, Virgil Muzzall, Stanley Bates, Don Phillips, Betty June Grant, Frances Warner and John Osborn.

HONOR TEACHER AT LUNCHEON AFFAIR

BREA, June 6.—Learning at the last moment of school that Miss Jean Paulsen is to be married this month to Morris Moore, of Los Angeles, associates of Miss Paulsen on the Brea grammar school faculty contrived to get her to attend a luncheon given in her honor on Friday in a Fullerton cafe. There she was presented with three handsome pieces of silver, the gift of the teachers present.

Attending in addition to the honoree were W. E. Fanning, the Misses Kathryn Yates, Agnes Tozer, Ethel Eastham, Elmer Elder, Edith Maxson, Irene Preble, Lola Lewis, Cecile Templeman, and V. E. Jaster, Karl Klotstad and William Phillips.

Miss Paulsen has been head of the home economics department at the grammar school for the past several years but tendered her resignation some weeks ago.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

Better get out your best disguise, magnifying glass, and fingerprint powder. We're on the track of another murderer. Lobo De Wolfe, wealthy young sportsman, was found murdered on the floor of a garage. A bullet had entered his heart, travelling upward, and had come out at the shoulder. A shiny new lead pencil was found near the body. Eight wheel tracks entered and left the garage. Who killed him and why? Believe me, this is one for you to work on. It has an interesting and convincing solution. Can you solve it?

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler: There was only one dead cat left. After all wouldn't the rest run away?

Do you know a "Twizzler" that might throw a ray of sunshine (and mental anguish) into the life of a brother Twizzler? Send it to Brain Twizzlers in care of this paper.

RESPONSIBILITY

We are told that crime in this country costs from Twelve to Fifteen Billion Dollars a year. A staggering figure, which in round numbers, adds a yearly tax of $100 to every man, woman and child in the United States.

What does it cost in terms of human derelicts?

We are told that our prisons are so overcrowded that first-offenders are very often crowded in with confirmed criminals, where they become one of them. Confirmed criminals rarely reform. Apparently something has happened to their moral fiber which prevents them regaining their social equilibrium. Is it a protest against a social system which permitted their first downfall? Or is it an inability to rehabilitate themselves in our social structure because of the handicaps of prison bars?

Does this mean that, once a mistake has been made and the individual has been punished with a prison sentence, that ever after his destiny is sealed from again sharing the common hopes of mankind?

Did not the GREAT TEACHER say to the woman taken in adultery "go and sin no more," and to her accusers "let him that is without sin cast the first stone"? We all realize that there are just as great sinners, who have never been humiliated with prison bars.

Let me make this point clear: I am not pleading the role of a pardon board. However, let us face the question: Have we not a vicious circle, from which a person, once intercepted and condemned by law, finds it impossible frequently to extricate himself?

What solution of the problem can we offer? I would like to mention two factors that have been very effective. Each has to do with the individual at an early stage. Both have to do with inducing a sense of individual responsibility to themselves and to the community.

How many Boy Scouts have you known who became criminals?

Another organization conducted by boys between 14 and 18 has been equally effective, in a limited way. A BOYS' BROTHERHOOD, a miniature civic state organization, run entirely by boys, and giving everyone of its citizen-members a responsibility, with the following aims:

(a) To advocate self-help rather than charity for boys.
(b) To give every boy a fair opportunity.
(c) To correct conditions unfair to boys, working or at play.
(d) To correct misunderstandings between boys and their parents, their teachers, the cops and the courts.

A boy's past is not questioned. By the administration of the various phases of government, these boys come to understand the reason for laws and to respect them. How does this work out in terms of service to the boys?

A group in a big city discover gambling under cover, where boys of the neighborhood are taking part. A committee of boys visit the owner and tell him the gambling must stop. It stopped.

One of the group needed blood for transfusion. Fifteen of their group volunteered.

One of their group, working at night, drifted away from the rest and got in bad company. A holdup resulted, and the boy sentenced to six years in the penitentiary. A committee of the boys quickly contacted the judge, pleading for clemency. The judge reduced the sentence to six months in a reformatory. When the term was up, the group had a job for the boy. At their next election he was appointed to a responsible position. Today that boy holds a position of trust with his employer.

When conditions in a state school became such as to make crooks out of its inmates rather than help them, a vigorous protest from the boys to the governor resulted in a radical change of the controlling group.

The Boy Scout field is recognized as a real factor in developing responsible citizens, and excellent work is being done in that line. The other, less organized field of responsible citizenship in a boys' own organization, unadulterated with make-believe charity, has been much less developed.

The mayor of Chicago says "It is the best training for boys I know. We need several more such groups in Chicago."

Would such an organization not be a feasible project for this community? During 1935 Santa Ana had 71 juvenile delinquents, of record. How many of those might have been prevented by such a boys' organization? How many of that number will become hardened criminals, exiled from society, with little hope for the future?

These are questions we may not pass lightly.

FORD'S PROFITS, FEDERAL DEFICITS

With the Federal deficit estimated at $6,000,000,000 for the present year, besides the obligations the governments have guaranteed which they will have to pay in addition, the profits of one of the largest corporations, The Ford Motor Car Company having just been filed, it is interesting to note the earning of how many of such corporations it would take to pay the Federal deficit.

Ford's profits were a little less than $6,000,000,000 and the government's deficit $6,000,000,000. It would take a thousand corporations that made the same profits Ford did last year to pay the Federal deficit, without considering the regular taxes collected. The dreamers who cannot see reality and who are content to spread their theories on to immature minds, can see nothing about which to be alarmed, when it would take a thousand corporations of one of the largest manufacturers to pay the deficit.

The large undistributed profits of the legislators and dreamers talk so much about to pay the boondoggling and reckless waste of government expense exists largely in the minds of these dreamers.

Figure it another way, as to putting the unemployed back to work, how many new men could Henry Ford put to work out of his profits, even if it were not distributed. At $1500 a year, if there were nothing required for capital investment, it would only give employment for 4,000 people. If, however, the automobile industries require capital investment of $25,000 per worker, as the railroads do, this would be very materially increased. Of course, the capital investments would be largely payroll and employment from the manufacturers of capital investments.

If we are to put the men back to work at wages which men can afford to work at, we must have greater profits or greater savings from somebody in order to have the capital which can be traded to workers for the new wealth the workers are to create by their work.

Taxing surpluses is the way to kill private employment and compel the government to take care of more and more people by boondoggling until we finally realize the effects on our society of taxpaying people on the basis of ability to pay.

OUR GOVERNMENT EXPENSES COMPARED WITH BRITAIN'S

In an address before the National Economy League at Yale, Professor Moley, former close advisor of President Roosevelt, explained the dangers of our present excessive government expenses.

He pointed out that in Britain the per capita cost of government, national and local, amounted to $94; in the United States it amounted to $80 per capita. But, he pointed out that when the deficit is added, it makes the per capita cost greater in the United States than in England.

If we figure correctly, the $6,000,000,000 which the government is out of balance and without regarding the many billions it has obligated itself for which it eventually will have to pay, there would be about $40 extra taxes per capita in order to balance the budget. This would make the cost per capita in the United States run about $120 per capita.

Professor Moley also points out, "a comparison of the burden of these taxes, moreover, indicates that a much greater proportion of taxes is paid by the small income group in England than here."

Professor Moley added, "The sooner Congress realizes what is now perfectly evident to accountants and economists, namely, that there are simply not enough incomes in the higher brackets to pay for government as it is now being conducted, the better it will be. When that day comes, the average man with a small income in the urban and industrial section of the country, will wish he had been more diligent on his guard against mounting costs of government, for he is the one who is going to pay."

Every student of history knows that what Professor Moley has stated is true; that it eventually will mean lower and lower standard of living for the great mass of people; that the man who has an active mind and good judgment and can see what will happen before it does happen will still be able to earn and spend more than the man with slow mentality and the cost of government cannot be passed on without hurting the poorest of the poor. Even the man in the poorhouse eventually suffers.

24-HOUR SERVICE

Cleveland, like a great many other large American cities, is troubled incessantly with traffic violators. And tickets, the city has found, don't seem to stem the tide of difficulties.

So officials have resorted to immediate booking of violators. Drivers are taken to the nearest precinct stations upon arrest and, if they can provide bond, are released for trial. If a driver desires, the case can be disposed of within 24 hours.

That is in contrast to the old system, that of issuing a summons. The trouble with the summons, police point out, is that it often fails to bring in the defendant. Moreover, the lag in prosecution over a period of weeks opens the way for "fixing."

What effect the Cleveland experiment will have on its traffic remains to be seen. But it does look like a good tip for any city with a clogged traffic docket.

TOO YOUNG TO DRIVE

Headlining the list of traffic fatalities recently was the collision of an automobile with a lumber truck near Richmond, Va. Six were killed.

That alone was catastrophic, but the accident was notable for another fact—that all occupants of the wrecked automobile were under 21. It was a case illustrating a vital defect in the regulations of many states that permit youngsters to drive without either examination or certification.

This is not to say that persons under 21 should not drive. But the Virginia accident certainly represents one angle of today's traffic problem. Records of every state attribute a large number of accidents to adolescent drivers.

Either existing statutes should be observed or a new check devised to eliminate this hazard.

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, June 6. — Into the already complicated situation of a session of Congress stirring to end its labors has come a change in the speakership of the House of Representatives at a critical moment.

The late Speaker Byrns was faithful to White House commands and yet skillful in maneuvering committee strategy so as to keep undesirable bills from coming to a vote.

Strangely enough, Mr. Byrns was a conservative at heart, but too loyal a party man to interpose his inner views against the irresistible march of the New Deal legislative demands.

Naturally, a Speaker of the House who has the confidence of the President is so familiar with the inside workings of the administration mind that, overnight, the same familiarity of viewpoint cannot be transmitted to a new presiding officer. It may be wondered how a presiding officer can exert so great an influence on legislative progress when his function is primarily to apply parliamentary rules. But nowadays the Speaker is really a party leader, and, under the Roosevelt administration, he is really chief lieutenant and principal link between the executive and one house of congress. Likewise, if he is so disposed, he can stand up against unwelcome legislation, especially if his party colleagues insist that a particular measure's passage would be politically damaging to them.

Representative Bankhead of Alabama, who has just succeeded the late Mr. Byrns to the Speakership, has not been in good health and has for many months been away from his post as majority leader. He is, of course, close to the White House and will play ball, as did his predecessor, but the management of New Deal policies on the floor of the House will be in a somewhat unsettled condition just at a time when concentration and harmony of purpose is essential.

Over in the Senate, on the other hand, where Vice President Garner—a former speaker of the House—is active in trying to carry out White House wishes, the situation is requiring all the tact and skill he can command. The friction on the Democratic side is noticeable. It has arisen particularly over the tax bill. There is no doubt that, if the majority were to consult their own wishes, they would drastically modify it. But as the President is pressing for passage of a bill somewhat along the lines of the measure that has passed the House, the Democrats naturally do not want to displease Mr. Roosevelt in a year in which so many of them are to have their names on the ballot with him for reelection. The general impression is that Mr. Roosevelt will accept a compromise and that the new tax law will

25 Years Ago Today

JUNE 6, 1911

Santa Ana is in gala attire for the opening tomorrow morning of the State Christian Endeavor convention which will continue until Sunday night, June 11. The first train of delegates to arrive will be that from Fresno which is expected to reach Santa Ana at 10:15 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Merchants and Manufacturers' association has planned the decorating of downtown streets, all of which are in carnival appearance. Purple and gold, the C. E. colors, are also those so recently used at the carnival, so it is believed house-holders will have ample banners and pennants to deck their homes to aid in the general gaiety of the city.

Glenn Martin returned today from Brawley where he signed a contract to give a flying exhibition at the big two days' celebration planned by the little valley city for July 3 and 4. July 3 will be Cantaloupe Day. Martin will give an exhibition flight each day in a new biplane. He is building two of these machines in which the best points of the Curtiss planes are being combined with some of his own invention. Brawley is 100 feet below sea level, and the flights will be the first attempts of any aviator to fly under such conditions and as such are being awaited with worldwide interest.

Little Renny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

I was late for supper again, and I dawdled in the dining room with an absent minded expression and pop said, O, so you've decided to join our little family circle after all?

And look at the gassy state he's in, O dear, ma said.

Meeting on account of my clothes and face being partly muddy, and pop said, By golly it is a state isn't it? However, knowing him as I do, I have no doubt he can explain it satisfactorily, he said.

Sure, G. pop, G. ma, us fellows was wondering what to play, and Puds Skimins offered to go and get his basket ball so we could all practice passing it in the empty lot, I said, and ma said, That explains everything, you've been rolling around in the mud like a lot of uneducated cavemen.

No mam, because Puds never even got his basket ball and we never even went to the empty lot, because Sid Hunt invited us all around to his back yard to play circus, I said, and pop said, So that was it? And what were you, the bottom man of the Eight Aerial Arabs? he said.

No, sir, because we didn't play circus I said. Reddy Merfy had a idea to play Spanish bull fight, I said, and pop said, And you were the bull, is that it?

No sir, we decided not to do that either, I said, and ma said, Then what did you do, in words of one syllable?

We played Lige of Nations, I said. I was France and Sam Cross was China and Leroy Shooater was England, and everybody was a different country, and we started to discuss peace for the whole world, and the first thing we knew it was a great big wrestling match and we took turns being on the bottom, so I'm not the only one looks like this, I said.

Go on upstairs and get washed and scrubbed and brushed, ma said. Wich I did.

HERE AND THERE

Eton is the most expensive of the English schools. Its fee is $1150 a year. The enrollment consists of 1150 boys.

Sal soda is excellent for cleaning the bathtub and other porcelain finishes.

The Yorubas of Nigeria do not permit burials until debts of the dead have been paid.

Russian cities are increasing heavily in population. Moscow now has a population of more than 2,500,000, while Leningrad, the second largest city of the Soviet nation, has a population of 2,250,000.

Odors are said to affect the memory of a human more than any other factor.

A plumb line can be weighed with a mound line, by measuring the distance the plumb bob is pulled out of line by the mountain's attraction.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SCHOOL PAYS

These are the days when parents are driven to desperation by demands that they release children from school attendance. "I want to go to work," "What's the good of the old school anyway?" "I don't need to know French and algebra to get a job." "I'm sick of school and I'm not going any more. I'll run away."

It is hard to be patient under the strain of such a bombardment, but that is all that is left the parent of the school-weary adolescent. Tell him that he may get a job for the vacation, but that by the end of summer he is to go to school. He is to finish school and get a diploma, but he can work, if he can get work, in between.

Talking to such boys and girls seems to have little effect. Though they are talked into silence in the evening they rise as vociferous as ever next morning. What they want is to a standard school holds them to a standard of routine, demands accomplishment, punctual and worthy, and they think that if they could once get rid of the pressure they would have the good time they have dreamed about all their subject lives.

Of course they are all wrong, but how is one to persuade them to that idea? There is no short cut to a happy ending here. All that can be done is to listen, advise and hold on to the idea that school comes before the job, the freedom and the fun. To tell them that there is no such freedom does no good because they do not believe it. The best way out is to half loaf—in-between job.

Sometimes it helps the cause when the children are shown that every completed term in school helps them every day afterward. It gives them added power for which they can always claim and get added rewards of money, position and power. There are statistics that prove clearly that school education pays in terms of money. The young person who leaves school and takes a job usually sticks at the level he started upon. He has scant background to draw upon, his mental power is undeveloped and is likely to remain so. What develops mental power and the worthwhile character is the steady, day-by-day study, preparation work that school demands. No body likes to feel bound to a routine, forced to perform a duty, but everybody needs to be held to just such a schedule. Left to himself a child would remain a child, untaught, untrained, undisciplined and undeveloped. There is a sound reason for schooling.

The young person who undergoes a long term of training has a long term of growth. His working life is longer. His power keeps increasing for a longer term of years. The better the education the more efficient the worker no matter what his field. Schooling pays in terms of social success, in terms of money, in terms of happiness.

Try to be patient with the restless young ones, but hold them in their tasks. Insist that they stay in school because schooling pays. (Copyright, 1936, The Bell Syn., Inc.) ## THE PATCHWORK QUILT

By Eleanor Young Elliott

(Have You Any Patches to Add to It?)

GIRLHOOD
Who knows but what the gallant prince
This very minute nears my gate?
I'll twist a ribbon in my hair,
Of course I mustn't seem to wait
But I shall stroll the garden paths
And now and then shall pick a flower.
The moon is rising in the east
It is a strange and mystic hour.
In such an hour the prince might ride
And halt his charger at my gate.
I shall be busy picking flowers—
Of course I mustn't seem to wait.

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE
We don't always have time to go clear up to the Little Gray House when we are hungry. Anyway it is vastly more entertaining to snatch an occasional hasty lunch down town.
Finstance. The scene was a busy drugstore counter. The tall young Irishman at the counter must have betrayed his nationality by a wee bit of the brogue. At any rate one of the two dear little old ladies from out of town upon whom he was waiting, saw fit to tell him about riding in a jaunty cart in Ireland. Then the anecdotes rained thick and fast.

They had a merry meal which they thoroughly enjoyed. So did the rest of us. When they left, the blessed one who took the checks, laid a nickel down on the counter. The young man certainly had not been working for a tip, but with all the Irish gallantry in the world he thanked them and said he would think of them when he put it in the collection box Sunday at church.
"Sure and we've a one-armed man to take up the collection now," he assured them. "They say we get twice as much as we ever did before."

(Is this a feminine explanation for the annual house-cleaning frenzy of womankind?)

UNLESS I CAN
Unless I succeed as I dry my dishes
In making them shine with my rapid swishes;
Unless I can keep all the cobwebs sweet
And the lint, which under the beds has crept;
Unless I can make every washing white
And iron it dampened to look just right;
Unless I keep order in drawer and bin
And nothing untidy is found there.
My next-door neighbor might come some night
And find my house "a perfect fright."
My dear shall never be backyard chat—
I can't permit it to come to that!
Elizabeth Foote.

SPRING!!
O, yes, there are bird-songs at dawn,
And hills covered over with green;
A listlessness followed by yawning.
A yearning for everything clean.
There are gayest of colors upspringing
In flowers... And all is sublime!
Until I remember it's bringing
That terrible housecleaning time!

Beth.

TO OUR PUP, MIDGE
A brown paw softly proffered,
Touches you
Warming your hand with loyal trusting grace;
An ever-wagging tail beats joy's tattoo.
At sight of a beloved master's face,
Begging for just the patient right to serve
In all unselfish love through fortune's change.
So curl upon the bed in pillowed curve—
Upset routine through dragging, dulling range;
We will remember that it's just in fun,
Forget to scold your mischief-making day;
No matter what your teasing self has done,
We'll pat your head and look the other way.
Carol Batelle.

"IF"
My pink hollyhocks with spikes so tall
Have completely covered my scarred old wall;
If the scars Life leaves upon us all
Could only be covered like this each fall!

Beth.

Ice-blue satin edged in white
Accents your coldness.
The chill may send me from you

When you wear pebbled gray crepe.
You mock in brilliants and sapphire blue chiffon
But tonight you are bewitching—
